BLACK AND WHITE INTERTWINED IN COLOR

Here we are, together.
Having come so far,
through every endeavor.
Soon to part,
and travel separate ways.
Realizing deep in our hearts,
how different we are going to live our days.
Celebrating an arrival,
into a brand new atmosphere full of sun and rain.
Knowing that we all have a rival,
that may try to cause us pain.
We must never give in,
but always strive for the best.
To finish everything we begin,
is the big test.
It is true to say that "It's Not All Black and White," although sometimes we overlook color.
Being away from friends may cause us fright, but it will feel better if we think bright and believe in each other.
We must never forget the friends that we have made or will make,
always keeping them in our minds.
For it's a risky chance to take,
if a person decides to leave their friends behind.

FACULTY

Through hard work and dedication the teachers have made the students of AHS an educated bunch. From art to agriculture, special education to physical education, and music to math, the information they have passed on and the skills they helped develop have made the students grow and become individuals. In spite of the obstacles and in the light of many successes they have always been and will always be there as a bridge of support for all that pass through Augusta High School.

very school morning the students of AHS arrived at our neat and clean school not only to be educated, but also to be served by the helpful secretaries and nutritious conscious cooks. Thanks should go to the usually little-noticed friends of the school — the custodians, cooks, bus drivers, and secretaries. Without them the school would not have functioned properly, if at all. They all deserve a hand and everyone's appreciation for a job well done. BUS DRIVERS: M.Solberg, B.Dickinsen, D.Sell, B. From time to time we have caught these usually calm and collected teachers off-guard. Sometimes they have been caught laughing or unsuspecting, but usually they have known when they were going to get a flash in the face and just said "cheese" for the camera. SENIORS

• IT'S NOT ALL POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE

The senior class was a class with intellect, wit, and yes cockiness! We were proud of our achievements, which ranged from painting the bridge to winning the spirit stick. And being that the majority of the student body and faculty idolized us, we felt that it was our duty to impart to you some of the wisdom that we have acquired during our six-year stay at AHS. 1. It ain't braggin' if you can do it. 2. Never say die. 3. Fashion, never function. 4. Image is everything. Don't just read these rules, live them and you, too, can be a senior. And don't forget, we seniors were cocky and built to stay that way! Thank you for your support.

eniors, as a tradition, have always had a senior countdown. Their countdown began early and ended just as quickly. From the beginning of time seniors have also elected officers and no matter how independent they might have been, they always needed the guidance of an advisor or two who may have had better ideas or an inside track. The advisors had a large responsibility and some rewarding times that have made for fond memories for both. They were there to help bring the seniors to the ultimate end of their countdown and to make 1990-91 live long in their hearts and their minds.

Honor Students

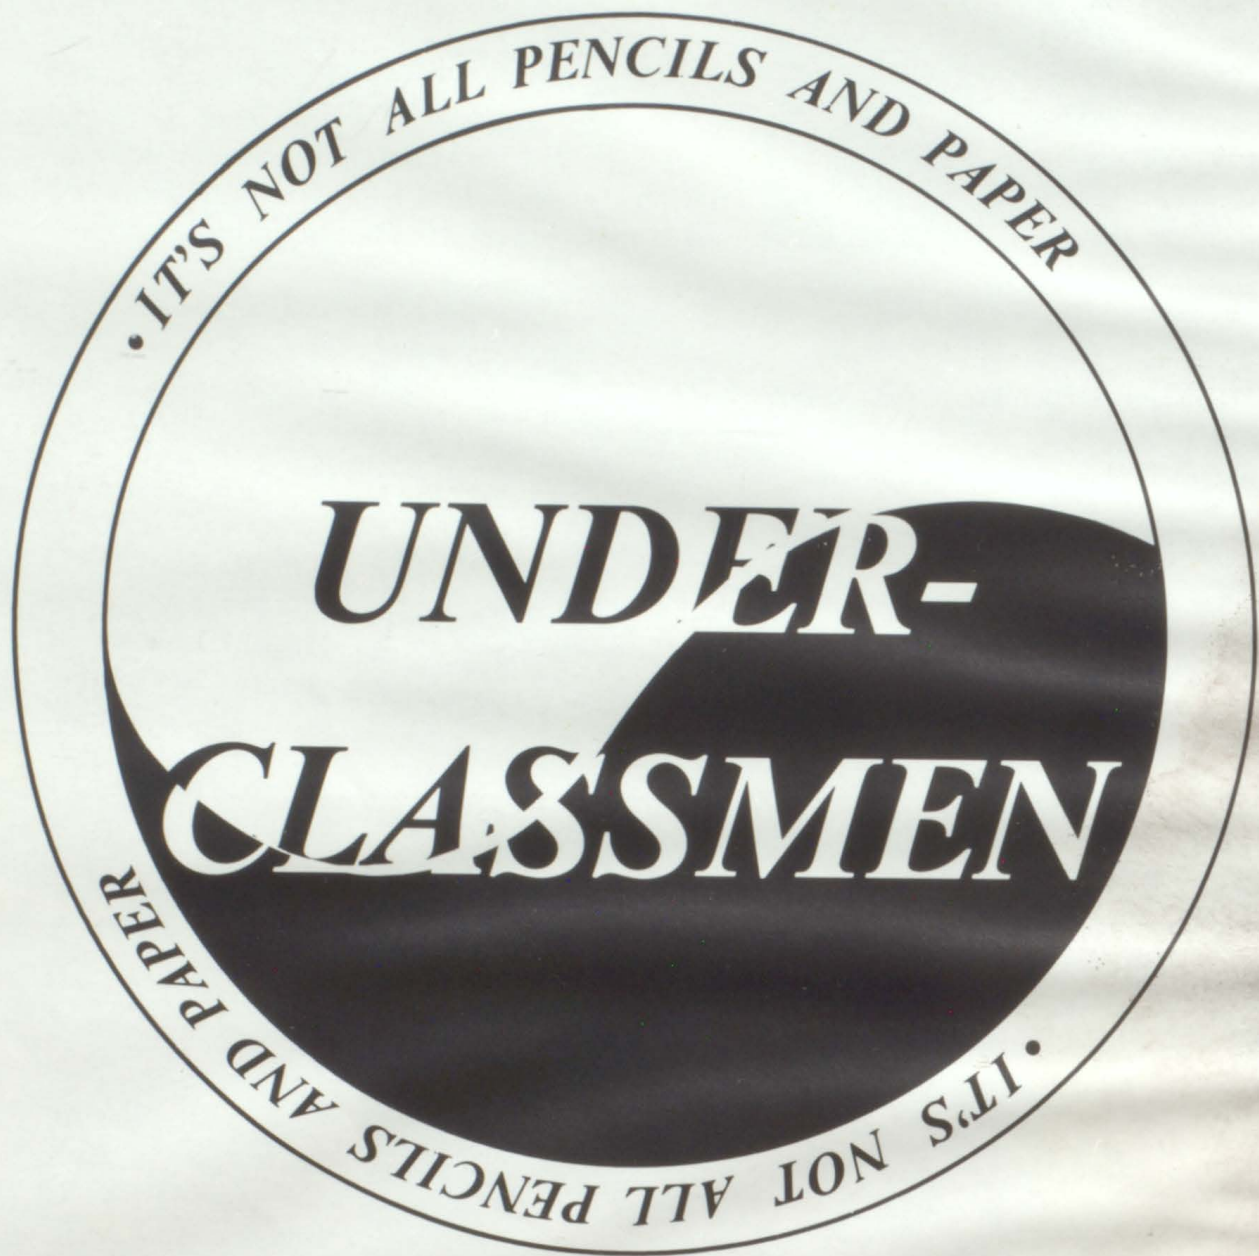

In order to be considered as an Honor Student a person must meet the criteria that is written in the policy. Students must maintain a certain grade point average to be an honor student. The top two grade point averages in this group of gifted students are given the honor of representing his or her class as Valedictorian and Salutatorian. The top ten Honor Students are 1. Don Honadel 2. Ken Greger 3. Angie Dickinsen 4. Lisa Harriman 5. Adele Warner 6. Bob Overby 7. Lisa Kelly 8. Hope Kamrowski 9. Amy Mayer 10. Gail Schmitt

Class of '92

OFFICERS: Mark, Wendy, Scott, Chrissy

As the members of the class of 1992 entered their Junior year, they embarked on many new adventures. Over the year, they had to take many tests, such as the ACT, the PSAT, and the ASVAB to prepare them for life after high school. The sudden reality of having only two years left made them realize the importance of academics and the responsibilities they must face in the future. Responsibilities??? Yeah, right!! The Juniors seemed to have only one thing in mind-having fun!- and they certainly did that well. Keeping the tradition alive, the class of '92 added yet another Saturday Night Live spoof to our Homecoming celebrations. This first-place skit featured a very pumped-up Hans and Franz on a visit to Wayne's World. (Ryan Volbrecht in horn-rimmed glasses?) Juniors also shined in athletics, as they enjoyed the new experience of playing the varsity teams rather than bench-sitting or playing JV. After this very eventful year, the Class of '92 has finally reached the top of the ladder and claimed the AHS senior hall for next year.

Class of '93

"It wasn't all black and white" for the class of '93 during their sophomore year. In fact, the year was quite eventful with the arrival of the traditional class ring, the earning of the right to ride behind the wheel with Mr. Vandehey and Mr. Rybak next to them (with their feet cautiously close to their brake), and a sigh of relief at the thought of not having Mr. Duke again (at least most of them). The sophomores triumphed in many areas this year from cheerleading to football to band. They also gave the seniors a run for their money in the Homecoming spirit stick competition and were edged out by only a few points. The class of '93 has proved themselves as a spirited class that will be strong future leaders at AHS.

Class of '94

Officers: Josh, Ben, Jason

After roaming the halls of junior high, the freshmen finally entered the big league where they faced heavy competition from the upper classmen, a big homework load, and the infamous Mr. Duke. They found that they liked being a part of the senior high and, "not being looked down upon, like in junior high." Sports was also a big plus and they enjoyed taking part in senior high sports and activities. Throughout the year the freshmen class experienced many memorable moments that will be added to the many more memorable moments to come as they start on their voyage to the top of Augusta High.

Class of '95'

They did it! The class of '95 proved they could make it in the high school by surviving seventh grade, and after a year leading the junior high, they're now ready to become full-fledged "high schoolers." The eighth-graders had an eventful year helping to plan several junior high dances and demonstrating their school spirit by winning the junior high spirit award during Homecoming week. They are now masters of the combination lock (?!), they can make it to class in three minutes, and they have completely forgotten a time when they walked to lunch in a single file line. Yes, the class of '95 is definitely ready to take over the freshman hall. The real question is, are the upperclassmen ready for them?

Class of '96

The 7th graders had a big change from being the big kids of the elementary school to the little ones of high school. No longer would they have recess, homerooms, or carpet squares to sit on. Instead, they had lockers, an eight period day, and demerits. They were confused and a little scared at first, but they stuck it out. If asked if it was worth it, the new arrivals would probably say it was. For all the pleasures of elementary school they sacrificed they acquired the high school pleasures that we all take for granted such as pep rallies, Homecoming week, a personal locker and lock (tip for the cool — No one uses their lock!), and, of course, dances!

SPORTS

• IT'S NOT ALL FUN AND GAMES •

• IT'S NOT ALL FUN AND GAMES •

Combined Force

Once again the Senior High Wrestling team of Augusta combined forces with Osseo-Fairchild for another excellent year. Even though a small number of students from AHS signed up, the results were really impressive. As always, the boys did their best to bring their opponents down to their knees and laid them out flat on their backs. Our pride for these fellows has no end.

As for the Junior High Wrestling team, work on their wrestling skills and strategies was a massive part of their season. Depending upon whether they were in 7th or 8th grade was the determining factor on whether they worked on learning the ideas and movements of the sport, or whether they focused on strategies and ways to beat their opponent. The Junior High wrestlers spent the season learning these techniques and being prepared for Senior High action.

Softball Super Stars

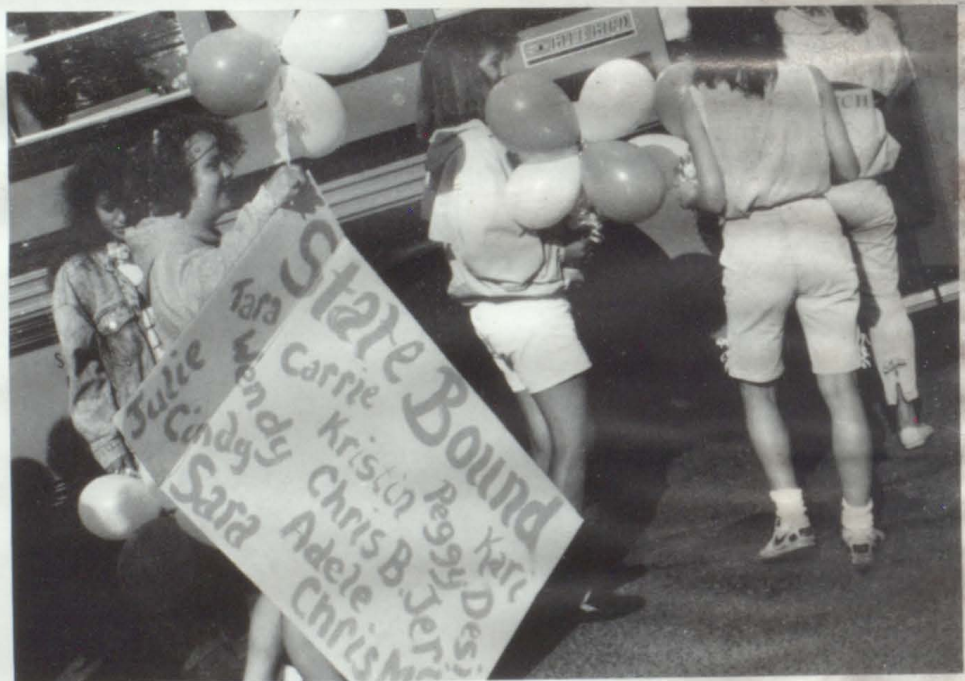

The softball team ended its awesome year with a trip to the State Tournament in Wauskesha. They were the first girl's athletic team to make it to a state competition. Although they ended up losing to the Champion Marion 2-0, they still came home as Augusta Invitational, Dairyland Conference, and Sectional Champions, with and memories they will never forget! The team was led by MVP-Carrie Ries (pitcher), Best Hitter-Kari Berlin (1st base), and Best Defensive Player-Chris Bethke (catcher), who were named to the first team All-Conference. Other awards were Most Improved-Adele Warner (2nd base) and Wendy Honadel (3rd base) and Coaches Award-Sara Luedtke, who were named to the second team all-conference. Besides the awesome Augusta players, this year seven girls from Osseo-Fairchild participated in a co-op JV team.

The Augusta Golf team showed an impressive season in 1990. They placed 5th in the conference and qualified two golfers to participate in the 1990 WIAA Class C state tournament. Senior Matt Gavin and freshmen Jeremy Aspen represented A.H.S. very proudly. Matt placed 3rd runner-up and Jeremy was just a step behind at 4th. The golf team itself missed qualification by only 7 strokes. The team's final conference standing was 20-43. Special awards included-MVP-Matt Gavin, Most Improved-Jeremy Aspen, and Coaches Award-Gary Ball. We are looking forward to another impressive season from this very talented group.

Victorious Volleyballers

"It wasn't all black and white" for the volleyball team this season. The team was plagued with many injuries resulting in many shed tears and black and blue ankles. The girls were excited at the chance of going the state, but the injuries came back to haunt them at the Division 4 Volleyball Sectional Finals in Suring, as the girls could only come up with 3rd place. Although the girls fell in the Sectionals they had many accomplishments over the year including bringing home first place finishes at the Loyal Invitational, Regionals, Regional Finals, and the Gilman Invitational for the third time in a row. "We were hot, we made the Dairyland melt, Look out 'cause we're headed for the Cloverbelt," was a line taken from a poem written by two members of the last Dairyland conference team the year before we headed to the Cloverbelt. These words certainly came to be true as the girls powered their way to become co-champions of the Western Cloverbelt. This year's team was led by six very skilled and experienced seniors including Kari Berlin, Angie Dickinsen, and Amy Mayer who were named First Team All-Conference.

Junior High Volleyball

The seventh and eighth grade girls, led by head coach Sharon Horel and assistant Kris Perkovich, hit the volleyball court with great enthusiasm last fall. The eighth grade's talent and experience led them to a perfect record of eleven wins and zero losses. The seventh grade learned a lot from their older teammates and learned the basics well enough to finish their season with three wins and eight losses. Both teams enjoyed themselves and showed good leadership and skills for the future.

The boys of the seventh and eighth grade classes got their first action on the football field early this year. With less than twenty members on each team, both teams were faced with the unfortunate reality of being a little on the small side. Both teams worked hard to learn or relearn the fundamentals and gradually got better as the season progressed. This tremendous effort allowed both teams to end their season with the identical record of two wins and three losses.

Two Seconds, Twenty Yards, Total Mayhem

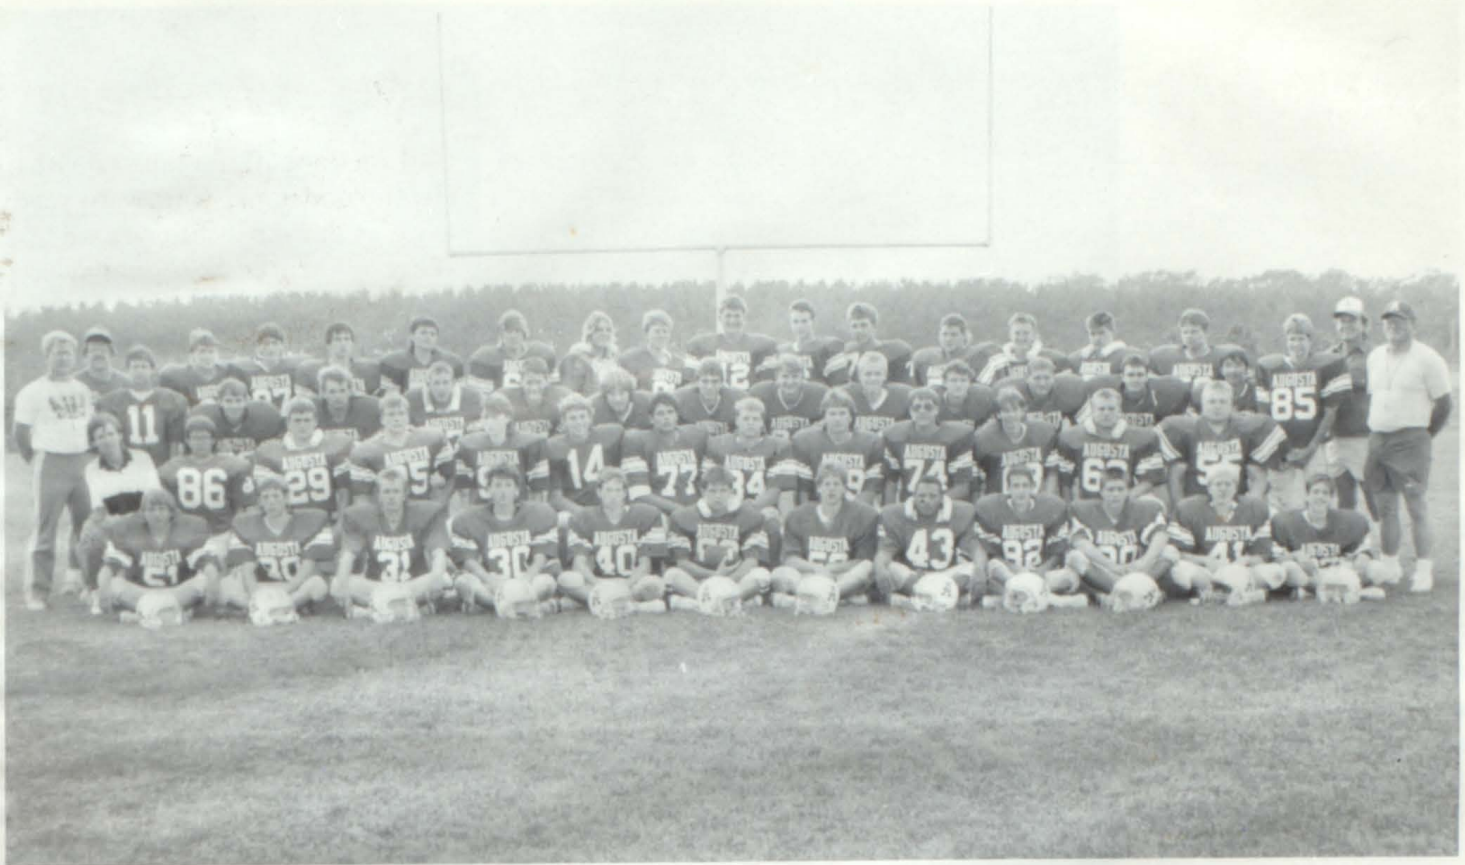

Two seconds were all that stood between Greenwood and a conference championship. The score stood 32-25 as the guys and I lined up for one last play. The ball was snapped and pitched to Bechtel. He rolled right, and I could only watch as he was met suddenly by three defenders. It was over; or was it? Bechtel, beating the quick whistle referee, pitched the ball back to Brown. Brown took the ball and rolled left. Again, I could only watch and hope. Out of the corner of my eye, I saw an opponent sprinting full speed at the ball carrier. It was the strangest form of running I had ever seen. He was jumping and waving his arms. I was sure it was over then, but the strangest thing happened. The guy was running off the field. He thought they had won. Nathan ran right behind him and into the endzone from twenty yards out and everyone went nuts. The only problem was that we were still behind 32-31. No problem. Take 1 part Tom Crowe and eleven parts psyched up football players and you come up with "The hell with overtime, let's fake the kick." And we did. The ball was snapped to Bechtel (the holder). He stood up and rolled right. Again he was met by defenders. But he threw the ball before they got there. The ball was heading for the grass, when the hands of John Kelly reached out and that's all I saw. The Augusta sideline, which had witnessed its team fall behind 32-6, had exploded and was now flooding the field, some yelling, and others in tears.

Had we done it? To the surprise of Greenwood fans, who were ready to do as our fans were, yes we had. We had scored 27 unanswered points and beaten them with no time left on the clock. I myself could not believe it until I was mobbed by fellow teammates and fans. The Augusta Beavers, the new kids on the block in the Cloverbelt Conference, had taken the best the conference had to offer and beaten them. They now had something that we didn't... a check in the loss column. A week later we had something they didn't... a conference championship.

Slammin' n' Jammin'

The Boys' Basketball team was very active and came up with two exciting wins over their rivals, the Fall Creek Crickets. The boys worked at their highest potential and the high energy of the varsity and junior varsity teams brought them many well earned successes. Senior stars Mike Bechtel, Don Honadel, Bob Overby, and Troy Volbrecht made a great group of team leaders and competitors.

Coaches Mr. Vandehay and Mr. Skifstad led the guys in a triumphant high to overcome several of their most difficult opponents. Their win/loss record could be a bit improved, but all of the games were played with high spirits and brought the crowd off their seats several times. Next Season looks to as, if not more, victorious and will hopefully keep the same competitive spirit going for years to come.

Pivoting On The Right Foot

The 1991 Junior High Girls' Basketball team had a season they won't forget. The girls' aggressive play on the court showed off the skills learned through long hours of practice and the talent that was there from the start. This year's 7th grade team was definitely talented, and with almost 20 girls out it was never in danger of having foul trouble. The 8th graders proved that they will certainly be an asset to the team for next year's high school action as they showed their remarkable basketball abilities and gained valuable playing experience. The talents of the girls were put to their best use by coaches John Dickinsen and John Anderson, who kept them working hard and led them through a great season.

It's Not All Wins and Losses

The 1990-91 girls basketball team was challenged with tougher teams as they left the Dairyland and entered the Cloverbelt Conference. The Augusta girls were very young; the team consisted of 3 sophomores, 6 juniors, and 2 seniors. The teams they faced were far more experienced with a definite height advantage. Injuries throughout the season caused the team to shrink in its size, and had the girls having to adjust to working in different combinations. By looking at their record, one would think that the team wasn't very good, but all of those judgments could be refuted after watching the team show its stuff on the court and almost pulling out some real upsets. The energetic attitudes of the girls was what kept them from giving up. Several of the games between the Beavers and their opponents were close until the final moments, most of which, unfortunately, left the opponents with the win. The girls' basketball team struggled throughout the season and unfortunately came out with only a few wins.

Run, Jump, Throw!

It's spring!-and what are some of the guys at AHS doing? They're jumping into sand pits, throwing disks, and running around in circles. Spring fever? No, just the track team getting ready for another season. The 1990 season was a successful one, as the team outscored its opponents 583 to 415, had two 1st place finishes, three 2nd place finishes, and sent its 1600m Relay Team to state. The team of Jeff Cleasby, Mike Raycher, Todd Smith, and Ray Luedtke took 6th place, representing AHS very well in LaCrosse at the state meet. The rest of the team also did a remarkable job, under the coaching of Mr. Tweed and Mr. Hadorn, and the 1991 season looks to be another exciting one as the AHS track team keeps on winning!

Charming Cheerleaders

It wasn't all black and white reflecting on the 1990-91 cheerleading season. It was more purple and white shimmering all throughout the school, boosting school spirit. The Football cheerleaders lead many pep assemblies, getting the football and volleyball players psyched, getting the cheerleaders did more work than they got credit for. Locker treats had to be distributed to the large football team and also the cheerleaders had to use their creative minds coming up with a new design for the A-frame each week. Homecoming brought out more spirit in the cheerleaders while some got very enthusiastic. They put in many hours and created a pep squad for the Homecoming game. There was enough interest in cheerleading this year to have enough girls for a J.V. and a Varsity squad. They showed a lot of support and were at most home games to cheer on their team, whether the team won or lost!

ANNUAL STAFF

Annual Staff showed superior dedication and "colorful" ambitions as the 1991 yearbook production was carried out. This book is unique because a majority of it was produced on a computer. Pictures, Layouts, and Croppers were a necessity to the staffers in their attempt to piece the puzzle together. In the case of meeting deadlines, the Annual Staff was extremely successful. Of course a work night did not go by, without munchies and pop (for much needed caffeine hikes!) In the end, though crazy and delerious, the Annual Staff members came through.

Capturing Kodak Moments

Under the supervision of Mr. Tweed, this year's photo club photographed all of the latest looks and trends at AHS. With their cameras loaded with film and their desire to get the most unique picture, they took off and began their quest. Many hours were also devoted to developing pictures in the darkroom.

Some of the activities that Photo Club had a chance to shoot this year were snapshots of sports, Homecoming, Prom, students in action in class and other activities, and the faculty. Overall the Photo Club had a very productive year. GROUP: M. Smith, A. Warner, B. Nelson, M. Bauch, C. Jacobs, M. Neitzke.

Future Homemakers

Limited finances and small enrollment didn't hamper plans for another busy FHA-HERO schedule. Veteran members rolled to increase new membership, and a highly successful Tom-Wat sale provided funds for our varied activities. Members participated in the Fall District Leadership Rally, and the Teen Sexuality Clinic at U-W Stout. Service projects included the nutritious snacks machine in the cafeteria, Thanksgiving dinner prepared and served the nursing home residents, and Military Mail Call, which produced 500 Christmas Cards to be sent to U.S. Armed Forces stationed all over the world. "Project Santa" an ongoing community service activity, helped brighten the Christmas season with our motto, gifts for four area families. "All work and no play" is not our motto, so members took time out to attend the Ice Capades, make homemade pizza, and strengthen friendships. Other activities included serving and preparing the Christmas faculty breckfast, State Leadership Conference, Augusta Children's Winter Carnival, and the Senior Awards Breakfast. Legal Hall Roamers

All students at AHS owe a great deal to the people behind the desk and some of those behind the desk are students, in fact. Without them the absentee lists would never reach the office, tardy slips would not be made out, and the office would not be represented by the student body. To be able to work in the office one needs a certain level of reliability to effectively perform the tasks assigned. That is why the office helpers are truly great individuals. First

National Honor Society

"Take me out to the ball game, take me out to the"- oops!- unfortunately the National Honor Society's traditional trip to a baseball game in the Cities was canceled because, due to last spring's baseball strike, there was no one available to play a game for them. Instead, the money reserved was spent on membership pins for the lucky members of the group. Led by Mr. Jacobson (whose ability to multiply about a thousand five-digit numbers at a time in his head certainly qualifies him for leadership of an honor society), the members finished out another year. Those students elected by the faculty to the National Honor Society were chosen on the basis of grade-point average and a few other things such as leadership abilities. They certainly try their best to live up to the choice, and consider it a great honor to represent AHS at the Metrodome.

The Augusta Senior High Student Council continued to perform and organize various functions for the good of the student body. They helped organize the "Big Buck" contest, the Homecoming dance, the Winter Ball, and the Secret Santa program during which teachers were given small gifts of appreciation in the last week of school before Christmas vacation. Student Council members also attended the District Student Council seminars where they learned how to improve the senior high school experience. SR. HIGH: LEFT: SITTING: D. Bechtel, R. Walsh, R. Academic Decathlon and Mock Trial

Under the direction of Mr. Stutzman and Mr. Crowe, this years' Mock Trial team was a success. Many people do not realize the amount of work and time that goes into preparing for Mock Trial competition. Reading and studying the actual court case is the first real step, then many hours of memorizing and work must come next. For a student, any extra time that they have during the weeks before the competition is extremely valuable. Every person must be devoted to their part on the team, and they must be the best that they can be. After the competition, they can relax and be proud of their accomplishments. Studying for a test is not the idea of fun for many students at AHS. But for a few, it can be a rewarding experience that is worth spending time on. This past year the academic decathlon team did very well at their competition, where they took a test for about six hours straight, after many hours of studying the information that was supposed to be contained on the test. Coached by Mrs. Rieder, the Academic Decathlon team was looked upon as being a success this year.

Junior High Forensics

Building poise and self-confidence, having a good time, and learning to be a better speaker are some of the goals of the Augusta Junior High School Forensics program which is coached by Mrs. Kris Sell and Mrs. Kris Crowe. The program consists of thirteen speaking categories ranging from oral interpretation to speeches. The students are given the opportunity to attend seven meets including Level 1 and Level 2 competition.

Creative Communicators

Many people do not realize what hard work forensics really is. But, if you were to ask any member of the Senior High Forensics team, they would quickly let you know about what it takes to be successful. The old saying, "Practice Makes Perfect" is definitely proven true in forensics. Each person wants to prepare perfectly for an upcoming meet, so many of the forensic students stop in after school or on their own time to practice. Then come the endless meets, which usually occur on every Saturday throughout the months of January-March. Those who perform well at the district competition for a rating are able to go to the state competition in Madison. Forensics is truly worth taking part in and can be a wonderful learning experience. This year's team was coached by Miss Padjen and Mrs. Rieder.

Accents of Jr. High

The Junior High Choir spent the year making beautiful music under the direction of Mr. Ron Buckles. In spite of an overpowering amount of girls compared to boys they sounded fantastic in concert. After many long hours of singing scales, and the ever popular "me may mah mo moo" their performances certainly did credit to the many terrific voices. Throughout the year, the choir performed for the Fall, Christmas, and the Spring concerts. Also in January-March many hours were devoted to working and mastering Solo/Ensemble music for concerts, which took place in the first week of March. The choir also went to compete in Large Group competition at which they were judged as a whole choir, along with other schools in the Cloverbelt Conference. The energetic voices of the eighth-graders will be a great asset to the seventh graders so that they may be able to lead the Jr. Choir next year — so keep on singin'!

Flats, Sharps, Solfege

Becoming educated about flats, sharps, solfege, and all of the other additives that make up music, the Sr. High Choir, led by Ron Buckles, had a very full and productive year. With many hours of practice and performances, which came and went with a sense of satisfaction left every time, the choir was overall a success. Some of the performances that were held throughout the year were a fall, Christmas, and spring concerts. Also solo and ensemble participation by each choir member and All-Conference Choir that a few of the members took part in. The finale performance was on the evening of graduation. By Lisa Kelly

Throughout the halls of Augusta High School echoes of the band could be heard. The students were active with many performances. They played their instruments at concerts, pep band, Cloverbelt Band, District and State Solo and Ensemble contests, and many other activities. With their new director, Mrs. Kelli Aumann, they went into the year eager to prove their abilities. Even though the group was smaller in number compared to past years, they still played with the quality of the past. SENIOR STARS: L.Kelly, A.Warner, D.Honadel. Fingertips Producing Melody and Harmony

The Augusta Junior High Band was busy throughout the past year. The students attended workshops where they learned proper techniques on their individual instruments. They also held performances on numerous occasions. Many of the students also performed at the District Solo and Ensemble Contest. All of this helped to make the year fabulous for the junior high band.

The Legato Language

Musicians, scheduling, commitments, credits, sports. . . the Augusta High School Jazz Band had difficulty organizing. Many students who wanted to toot their horns and bang their drums were unable to be in the class period assigned for jazz band so they often came into practice on their own time (such devotion!). Students became more versed in various aspects of jazz including proper jazz techniques, changes in jazz from the past to the present (jazz HISTORY), and great artists associated with jazz music. Due to a lack of time, performances were limited but not the students' devotion to jazz. This talented group of students provided exciting, rhythmic tones every time they performed.

• IT'S NOT ALL DANCE AND ROMANCE

HOMECOMING — Masked robbers, cowgirls, Indians in war paint, a few more nerds than usual, and IGA stockboys roamed the halls. Pop cans hung from ceilings, toilet paper barricaded Mrs. Sell's door, and Mr. Garrity called upon the gods to assist him as he tossed "blood" on the hood of a school bus. No, Mrs. Sell wasn't really trapped forever, and no one was actually bleeding (unless you count some hurtin' Fall Creek Crickets after Friday's game). It was only Homecoming Week at AHS. School spirit was at an all time high during one of the best Homecoming weeks we had in a long time. Seniors captured the prized Spirit Stick, with some very competitive sophomores right behind, and several seniors were suddenly reminded of appointments on Thursday as outside the bonfire wood pile was mysteriously growing. The night of the bonfire started off with a heart-stopping win by the AHS volleyball team, in front of a crowd as Fall Creek suffered its first defeat of the week. On Friday they got their second as our awesome guys in purple and white showed their stuff on Centennial Field. Saturday night finished off a terrific week at AHS as the Homecoming King and Queen were crowned to the theme "Fly to the Angels" at the Homecoming Dance.

I'LL REMEMBER YOU

"It's not all black and white" and the 1990 Junior Prom broke that tradition by implementing red with the black and white as our prom colors. The dance was held at the Augusta Inn on May 5. The theme song, "I'll Remember You" by Skid Row, was played by Z-93 as the prom court slowly marched in. The court consisted of King and Queen, Reno Walsh and Angie Dickinsen; Senior attendents, Todd Smith and Kathy Whiting;

Junior attendents, Joel Brunzlick and Adele Warner; Sophomore attendents, Jason Kirkham and Peggy Smith; Freshman attendents, Maynard Huth and Heidi Walker. Carrying the crowns were Jesse Zellmer and Katie Steele. Many memories were made that night amongst all the helium balloons, colored streamers, and classmates dressed in formal attire. It was a night to remember.

Sui Man Fong(Sam)

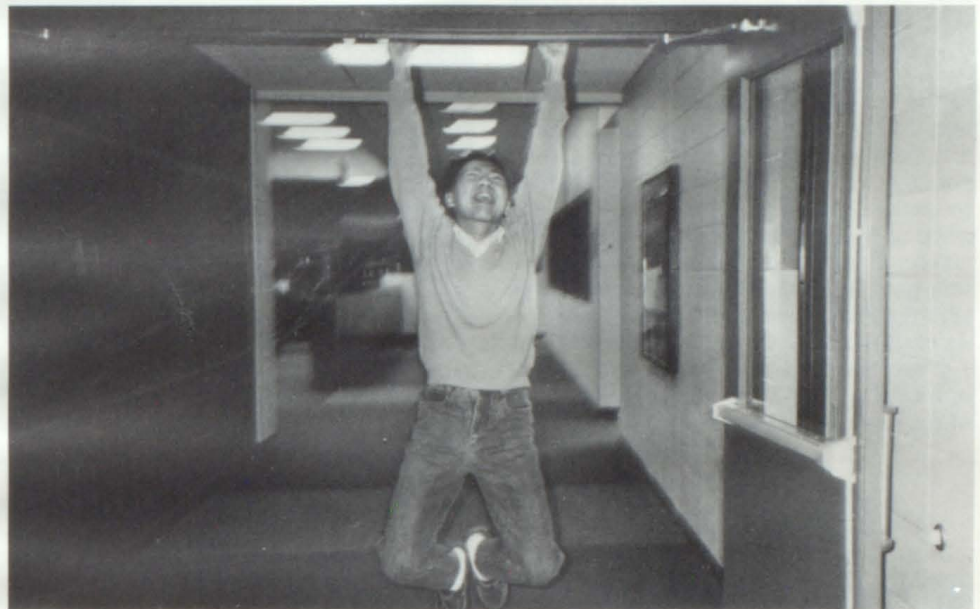

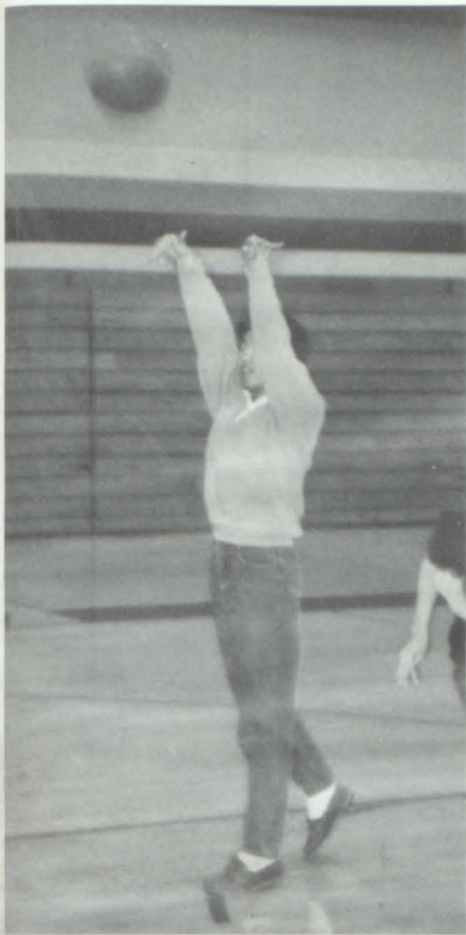

At the beginning of the 1990-91 school year, the senior class had the honor of meeting their foreign exchange student from Hong Kong. Sui Man Fong is his Hong Kong name, but the students here at AHS knew him as Sam.

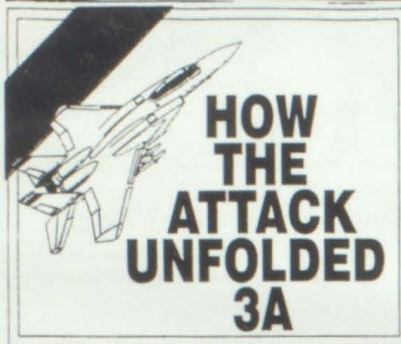

Sam is from Hong Kong University, Shatin New Territory. His father is a businessman, and his mother is a University teacher of Japanese economics. Sam is an only child, enjoys helping orphans back at his home in Hong Kong. Some of his hobbies consist of collecting football cards, drawing, singing, doing the paper route after school, watching sports, and going to movies. When not involved in one of his many hobbies, Sam has enjoyed other pastimes of snowball fights, snowmobiling, and bowling. Sam says he enjoys the snow, but hates the cold, cold weather.

Sam's favorite classes were 20th Century History with Mr. Stutzman, and Art with Mr. Gandrude. A unique experience for him was when he had to carry a sugar baby around for a week for his Parents and Children class.

Sam is living with Sherman, Gwen, Shannan, Shawn, and Shana Welter and plans to attend a University in Wisconsin with hopes to become an art or history teacher.

THE GULF WAR AT A GLANCE

U.S. BOMBS

In the early hours of dawn, in Baghdad, Iraq, on the day of January 16, 1991, the skies were lit up as bombs fell from planes flying overhead. Saddam Hussein had passed up his chance to get out of Kuwait before the United Nations deadline of January 15, 1991, so in turn the Allies and the U.S. began to engage in war with Iraq. Support for the U.S. Troops had been shown throughout America in many ways. Yellow ribbons hanging in yards and pinned on jackets, flags flowing in the air, and letters sent non-stop to Saudi Arabia, which have kept the mail-personnel working overtime. As of the writing of this article on February 19, war was still in progress and the initiating of a ground war was in the forefront of the news and the minds of all.

USA Survey

When To Wage War

Students age 8 to 17 were asked what reasons were valid for starting war. Here are some of their responses:

- 47%-Protect U.S. from attack
- 35%-Oust dangerous foreign leader
- 27%-War is never justified
- 26%-Make sure U.S. can get resources it needs easily
- 22%-Help a friendly country

Top Right: This young, camouflaged soldier is ready for action, with his weapon in hand, as he scans the fiery, hot, sandy hills of Saudi Arabia.

Bottom Right: Here NBC's Martin Fletcher, wearing a gas mask for protection from chemicals feared to have been in the Scud Missiles that were being fired into Tel Aviv, is broadcasting the national news concerning the recent events of the Gulf War.

AUGUSTA AREA TIMES

Volume 116, number 10 ★ Wednesday, February 13, 1991

Far Left: Annually, Augusta's Capstone Troubleshooters, instructed by Don Anderson, compete in a state contest involving a written test and a timed procedure of fixing a "bugged car". The team of Kit

Herbert (Osseo) and Troy Gruhlke (Fall Creek) placed 1st at state competition and advanced to national competition. There they placed 3rd out of all 50 states and Canada. Near Left: The class of 1991 brought back an old tradition by putting a Christmas tree in their hall. They decorated it with demerits and other memorabilia.
