• Finish what you've started.

Jacobs - If you don't get, you get got.

Kragness - Success is not measured by how much money you have but rather by how much character you have.

Gilles - Whining has only ever made my ears go deaf. Know when fun ends and hard work begins.

Collins - When your instincts tell you your essay is ready to publish, revise it again.

Life is tough. Be tougher!

Maenner

Schlough - If at first you don't succeed try try try again.

"Success comes from knowing that you did your best to become the best that you are capable of being." Mr. Perry

Kestner - FACE THE TRUTH REGARDLESS OF THE CONSEQUENCES

Leirmo - The best preparation for tomorrow is doing your best today.
H. Jackson Brown
American Author

Sigs - Don't Eat Yellow Snow

Meyer - Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. - Thoreau

Bert - Adversity doesn't build character... it reveals it.

Sands: The difference between a successful person and others is not the lack of strength, not a lack of knowledge, but rather a lack of will. - Vince Lombardi

Zastrow: Have a positive attitude and put effort in order to be a contributing member of the band.

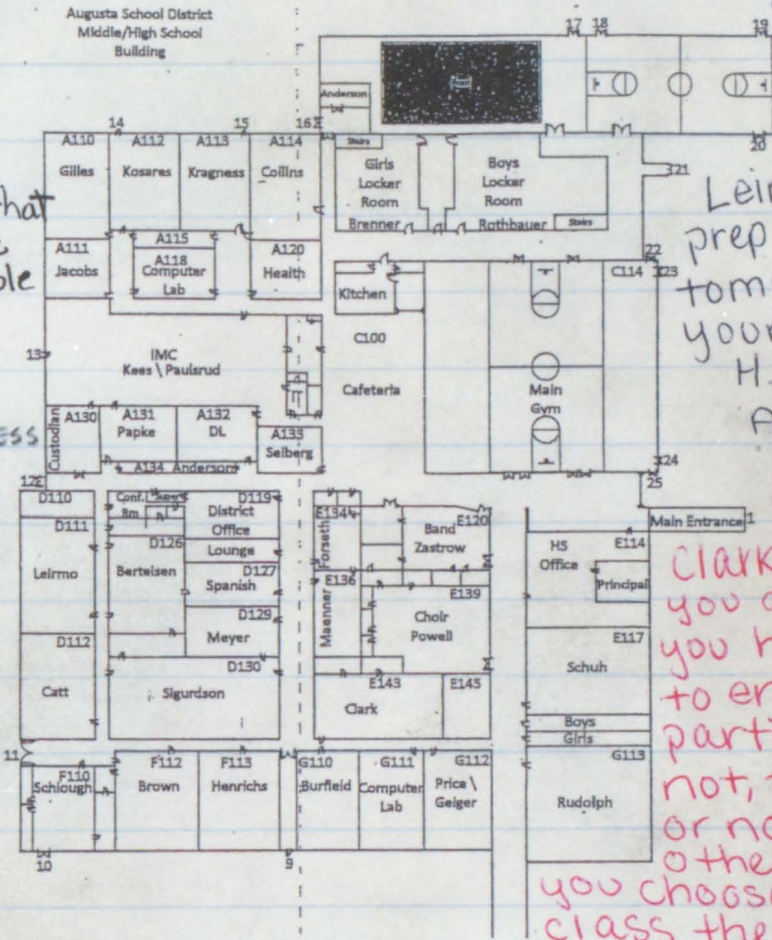

Rothbauer - Things may come to those who wait, but only the things left by those who hustle. - Abraham Lincoln

Keas: "The only thing you absolutely have to know, is the location of the library." - Albert Einstein

Mickelson: ~~An investment in knowledge~~ The more that you read, the more things you will know. The more that you learn, the more places you'll go.
Powell: Never give up. Dr. Seuss

BEAVER SURVIVAL GUIDE

The 2014 yearbook is full of the blood, sweat and tears each and every student went through at Augusta this past year. It was our job as yearbook members to capture all the activities, events and everyday life of the students at Augusta High school. We took all of this and put it together into our very own survival guide! We have made it our mission to give you tips on how we survived this school year. For the younger generations, they may look into this survival guide when the need arises. As a second year annual staff member I hope that you thoroughly enjoy this book. -

- Bradley Grunewald

The winter of 2013-14 was definitely one to remember. There were 56 days when temperatures were at or below zero. The Chippewa Valley had a snow accumulation of 59.5 inches.

The Augusta FFA and FFA Alumni donated money to the school for a TV to display the announcements in the cafeteria.

LN OTHER NEWS

Desyre Klindworth was the 2014 Miss Augusta, she was followed by princesses Kerry Stensen, Angelle Solie and Autumn King.

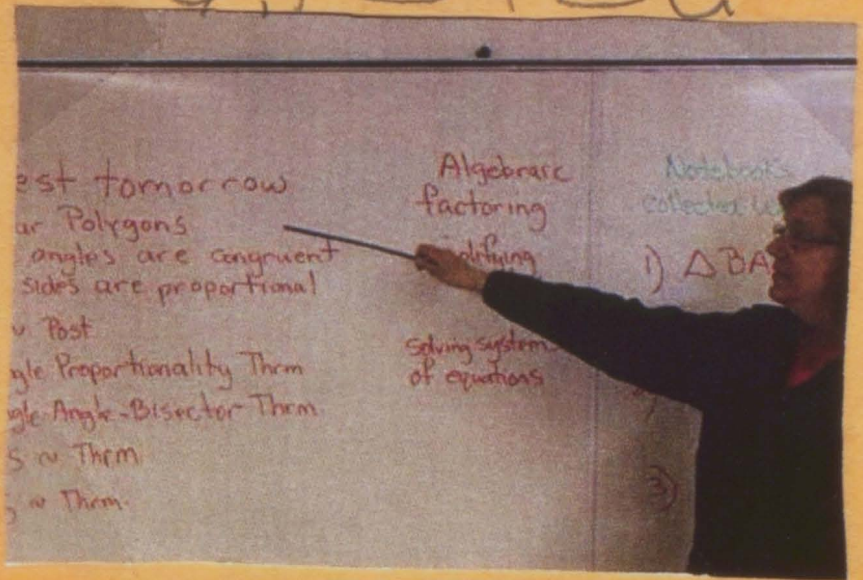

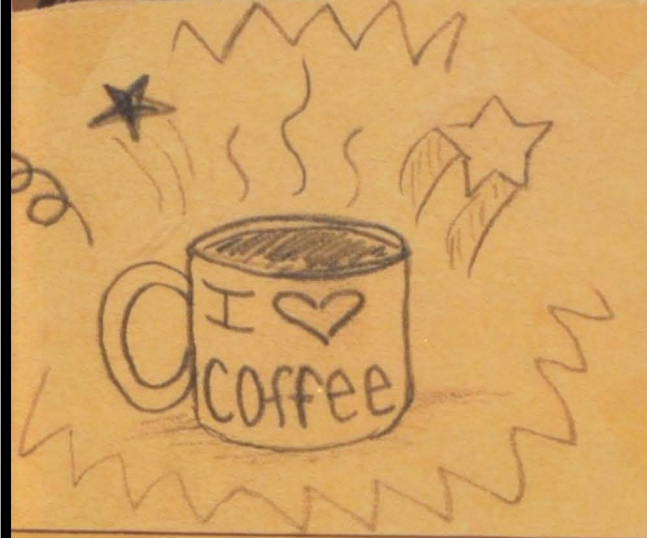

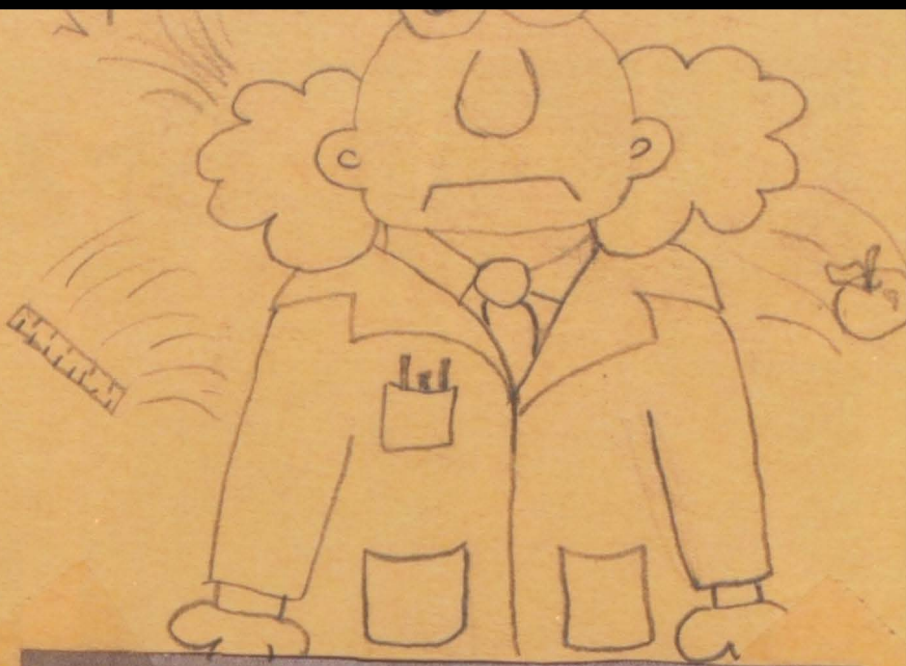

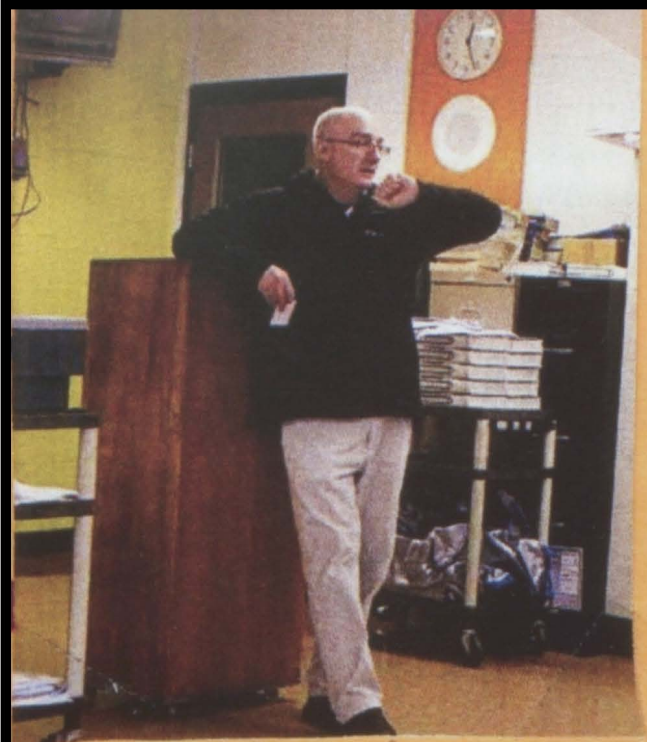

The newest addition to the school was the bus garage. The garage helped keep the buses warm and safe.

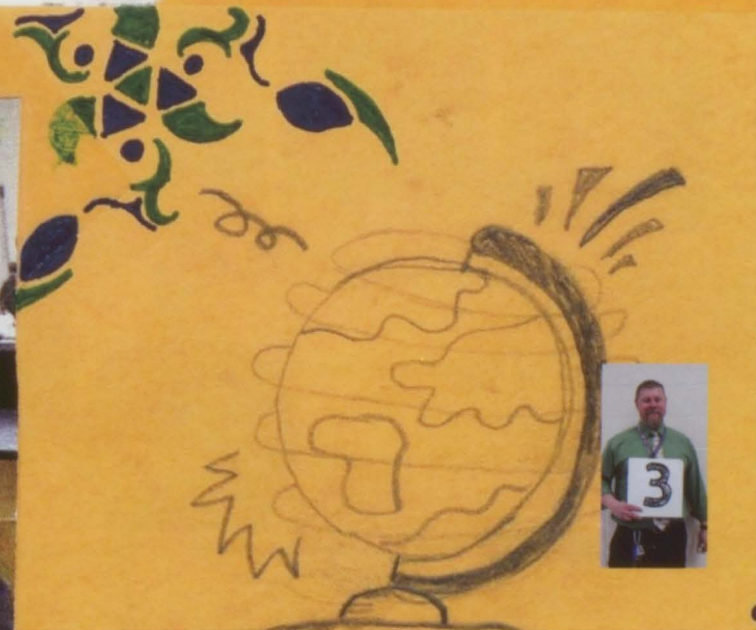

The junior class went to Real Life Academy. Its a hands on personal finance simulation. The group went through a month of the real world in a couple of hours. It showed the students how to manage their money.

- FFA*

FFA

FFA was an organization that helped students rise up to challenges, discover their talents, and search for their interests in a wide variety of careers. FFA was not just about farming and didn't stand for future farmers of America anymore; instead FFA stood for future leaders and students of America. FFA chose their officers wisely and carefully. The seven officers in order were Presidents Desyre Klindworth and Kerry Stensen, Vice Presidents Shelby Rios and Mathew Stanek, Secretary Calvin Mayer, Treasurer Kyle Schmitt, Reporter Carter Berlin, Sentinel Troy Zimmerman, and the Parliamentarian Hunter Alix. The officers attended many workshops to become better leaders throughout the year. The officers were in charge of making each month of FFA exciting by planning a fun activity and a volunteer activity. In order for a member to attend a fun activity, they must first attend a volunteer activity. If a member wanted to go to the Mall of America; they would first have to volunteer at the food pantry. Ms. Schlough, the FFA advisor, enjoyed seeing all the new members of FFA and all of their participation in the volunteer activities.

FBLA

The FBLA, Future Business Leaders of America, standing strong in their theme, "Excellence in Action," had 20 members. They started preparing for Regionals by working on their events before and after school, during lunch, and in their study halls. Their preparation and hard work paid off; the team placed 8th, with 7 individuals and 1 team who went on to State.

The FBLA team had many events that they could participate in. The events ranged from speech to business calculations. FBLA members participated in events like accounting, agribusiness, computer applications, digital video production, future business leaders, job interview, and spreadsheet applications. FBLA members moved on in all the above events. Copy by Alex Knutson

FCCLA

Family, Career and Community Leaders of America was what FCCLA stood for. FCCLA guides students in preparation for their future teaching how to get involved with the community and be a strong family member. Taylor Opperman, one co-president said, "Whatever you do in FCCLA you give back to the community." To any FCCLA student, it means competing at Regionals in hopes of achieving gold and making it to State. This year FCCLA members were invited to Regionals at UW-Stout. James Lengyel was awarded bronze for his Life Event Planning, in which he planned his family reunion. Rosie Berg, Chelsie Anger, and Bryanna Huset earned silver for their Chapter Service; the "Blanket Effect" which entailed making blankets for the Ronald McDonald House. Krista Kunz was awarded silver for her Event Planning, in which she planned her older sisters wedding. Also, Abby Randall and Taylor Opperman received gold for Chapter Service, doing a military drive collecting items such as canned food, hacky sacks, or letters from the students. Abby Randall, Taylor Opperman, and Krista Kunz all proceeded on to State, which was located at the Kalahari Resort in Wisconsin Dells. What anyone should have known about FCCLA, was that it was an organization for everyone; with more than 40 different categories and opportunities. Copy by Amber Herrick

Students Against Destructive Decisions was an organization that had students be an advocate to other students. To be an advocate it meant to be someone who got out in the world and spoke about a cause for the better of others. What S.A.D.D. was all about was to educate the community on alcohol, drugs and other destructive decisions. A few ways S.A.D.D. did that was through activism, which were ways to educate the student body and staff through skits, signs, and announcements. One of the activisms we did was at Christmas to pledge to do something for the better of yourself and or others around you. We set up a Christmas tree and you your sign your name on a specific color that went for the pledge you were doing. Another activism that was done was unhealthy relationships vs. healthy relationships. This was to show the non S.A.D.D. members ways to know what to when they get into a sticky situation. The activism went on for a week long with posters being put to announcement's saying "1:3, which meant 1 in 3 people are either sexually, physically, or emotionally abused every day!" Something that was different than any other year was, the S.A.D.D. members finally had a male in the group, which they haven't had in years. James Goings said "I'm just glad to represent".

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

How would you survive a year in a foreign country not knowing the language? This year, the Augusta School District hosted four new foreign exchange students. Yu-Hsuan Chen, we knew her as Teresa, from Taiwan, Pischea Jettakun, we knew her as Tulip, from Thailand, Kuan-Lin Liu, we knew him as Gary, from Taiwan, and Hien Tran we knew her as Genie, from Vietnam. Teresa and Tulip had participated in numerous activities while attending school, they were in One-Act play and forensics. In both activities they earned the opportunity to attend state. Genie participated in Forensics and Math Team. She had also earned the opportunity to attend state for Forensics and placed 2nd at the Varsity level Math Team competition. Gary participated in Basketball and Math Team. He earned 1st place at the Varsity level of Math Team. Copy by Evan Petras

22 ONE-ACT

ONE-ACT PLAY

The One-Act Play class has worked harder than ever, surviving 7:15am morning practices and long, after-school practices. All that hard work paid off and the One-Act Play class made it to State after too many years. "This year was my first time being in one-act and I loved every minute of it. I hope more kids join and have as much fun and learn as much as I did." Senior Marshall Mayer talked about his first year in theater.

The play that was performed called, "Works in Progress" by Paul H. Johnson; was about teenagers and the struggles they go through. The scenes varied in depth; one minute there's a jumbled mess of prom date phone calls and the next a boyfriend tries to convince his girlfriend that she's got an anorexia problem. All that hard work paid off as the team made it to state and made the journey to Waunakee High School, where state one-act was being held. The beginning of the show was rocky to start do to light and sounds problems. The whole show was dark for the first five minutes of their show but the group held their heads high and pushed through. Luckily the judges told them to restart and that they wouldn't include the light error in their decision: the whole group received an ensemble award.

POPULAR GIRL VS. NOT SO POPULAR GIRL

Amber Hevrick's popular girl character pats Shelby Rios's not so popular head, while telling people that she cares about people, and of course,

"If there's one thing that one-act taught me it would be, don't judge a book by its cover. I learned that everyone has their background but when it came down to it we all had each others back. I will miss it tremendously." - Shelby Rios, 4 year

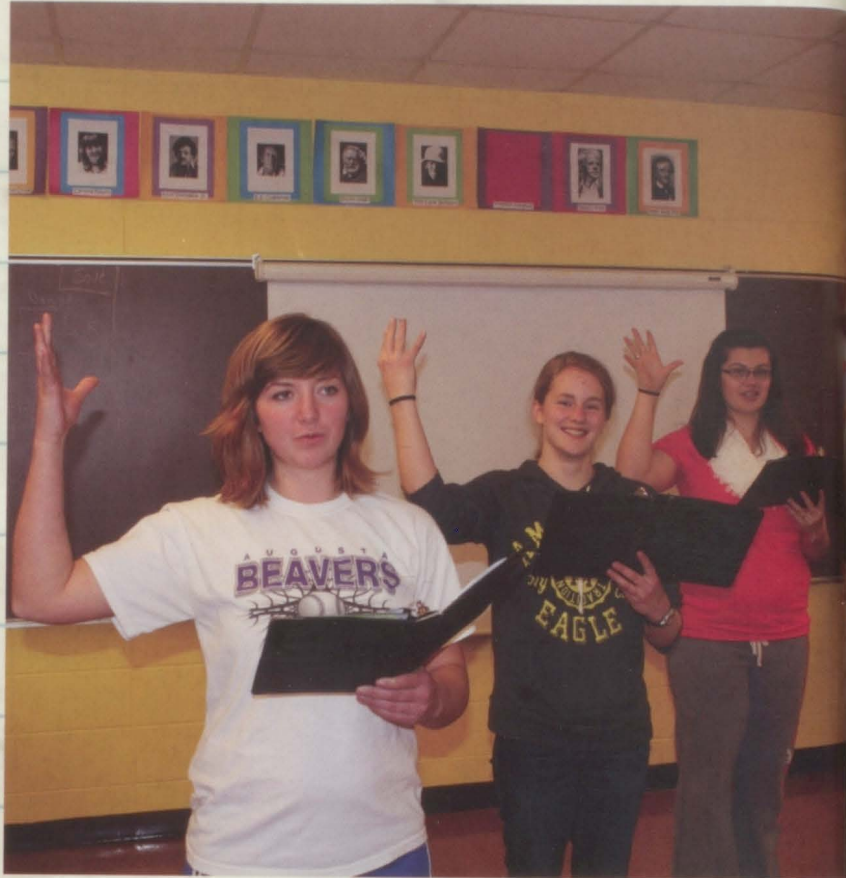

Forensics

2014 was a very good year for forensics here in Augusta! Coached by English teacher Mr. Collins and local librarian Ms. LaRose, this years forensics team, comprised of fourteen aspiring high school stars, managed to advance to the State level competition held in Madison, Wisconsin. Along the way, the team competed at four different invitational and two qualifying meets. "Everyone always does the best they can and really strives to be the best," commented junior James Goings when asked about the team.

8TH GRADE PLAY

The class of 2017 really showed what they had in their production of the play entitled "Truck Stop Chili." It was one of the longest plays directed by Mrs. Maenner with assistant direction coming from sophomore James Goings and senior Kayla Lone. The cast was assembled in January and began soon thereafter. The lights went up on the show April 26th. The play took place in a small town inhabited by country folk when an unexpected thing happened. A movie is chosen to be cast when the director comes to town: he discovered a garage band called "Truck Stop Chili" and wants to feature the vocalist Otis (Kayne Korger) in his new movie. As the story developed people of the town notice Otis was changing, and not for the better. The fellow band members wanted nothing to do with him when they realized that the fame had gone to his head.

Not only did the play affect the viewers life's but also the students of the play. "The play brought me closer to my friends" said Garret Pressley. "I am very comfortable in front of people because of being in the play" said Alexis Pierce. Copy by Gage Morse

MATH TEAM

You don't have to be smart or the best at math to be on the Math Team. This organization has been in Augusta for about 9 years. Mrs. Maener is the coach of the Math Team. "I just want the kids to learn more math," Maener explained when asked what motivated her to teach the math team. With helping the math team it can be difficult sometimes and for Mrs. Maener it was reviewing some of the advanced math sometimes and there wasn't enough practice tests. This help the kids learn more math, worth together with a variety of kids, and try new things. There were 28 kids who went to state. The JV team took 2nd place at their last meet, but varsity took 3rd after going up against 7 different schools. The concept of this activity was for learning math concepts that aren't always taught in the class room and academic competition. The hardest part of being part of the Math Team was the tests. When it came to practice, they had set times they would work and the students worked through previous exams in groups. The hardest challenge for getting the team prepared was getting the students to show up for practice. Mrs. Maener said, "The Math Team was a group of diverse and intellectual students."

VICA / Skills USA

Changing work force. Technology. VICA, aka Skills USA is an organization where students can demonstrate their technical and academic skills. This generation of learners is preparing to survive the world of work and be trained with necessary skills to asses those challenges. According to Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, with an economic upturn in the state of Wisconsin, there weren't enough workers to fill the demand in many manufacturing and construction related jobs. Joining an organization like Skills USA helps to boost an interest in trades and related vocations: placing students placed in high demand jobs. Copy by: Brooklynn Bruder

STUDENT COUNCIL

Did you ever think that students could do a better job of running the government? If so, then Student Council was a good organization to join! Student Council was in charge of organizing events like the spirit week of homecoming, where the student body demonstrated the tremendous pride they have in their school. They planned everything from what the dress up days were to the color of the homecoming attendants' sash. With many opportunities to show their creativity, Student Council was a lot of fun for all the members. When asked

N.H.S.

The National Honor Society was an organization for students who had a GPA of at least 3.25 or higher. It recognized student's with exceptional studios achievements. At the beginning of the school year the, National Honor Society had 14 returning seniors. Throughout the school year NHS inducted 8 juniors. During the school year the NHS group volunteered at several Red Cross blood drives. A new endeavor was the involvement in the Big Brothers Big Sisters program; it was a mentoring program for younger students. Ms. Selberg the advisor of the National Honor Society and the school counselor said, "Be prepared to do community service: it's bigger than academics". NHS also did a lot of community service with volunteer work also: raised funds for the Special Olympics by doing the Polar Plunge. One way they raised funds was to have root beer floats during lunch time: something everyone loves. Copy by Adrienne Brock

"Music is a world within itself, with a language we all understand."- Stevie Wonder. In band everyone speaks the same language called music. The course Band doesn't stop with just a band, it consists of many different kinds of band. There is pep band, marching band, honors band and concert band. The Augusta band was directed by Mrs. Zastrow.

"Music is a way to express yourself, is a hobby of mine and it releases stress" says Mrs. Zastrow. She pushed her band students to practice and learn their music. Mrs. Zastrow required her students to have a band lesson with her every other week and used this time to help her students with tough pieces. Every member within the band had to rely on one another and trust that they will take the time to study their music inside and outside of class. The first thing on the band's agenda was pep band and teaching the younger students the various pieces of pep band music they play. Augusta pep band is the only pep band in the conference to play other school songs as well as their own. Honor band members attended Cloverbelt All-Conference: where few students from each school came together and play as one giant band. Students who want to be a part of this are handpicked by Mrs. Zastrow to participate. On top of playing pep band; the students also had to prepare for several concerts throughout the year. The band performed a variety of concerts including the Fall, Christmas, Pop, and Spring concerts all themed around the season.

Flags

Flags were first introduced to Augusta High School over 25 years ago. In order to become a flags member you must be in band or choir. This sport was performed by a group of girls twirling purple and silver flags with a choreographed routine to different songs. For a while, they've had a nice sleek purple flag, wore a nice purple shirt with black pants, and a black long sleeve shirt but rumor has it that they might be getting new uniforms. Kelly Zastrow, who was the coach of the flag team, said the school she came from had flags, which she also helped. When she came to Augusta, she was excited to see the school had this activity. In the morning before class started, Mrs. Zastrow and the performers practiced in the gym. Practice was helping the girls improve their skills that they already had, this was to focus on the routine. Flags perform for boys' football and basketball games. Everything comes with obstacles, and for flags it was getting the members on time for practices and the biggest problem were the different personalities. This activity was another way to express yourself in a different kind of sport. They performed to three songs this year: Desyre Klindworth said her favorite song was "Timber" by Kesha and Pitbull. Desyre, a 4-year member, said her expectations of joining flags were "to have fun and perform in front of people," which were met. Mrs. Zastrow said, "This year the girls put forth a lot of effort for a job well done."

CHOIR

Augusta's High School choir was pitch perfect this year. Singing in the Fall, Christmas, Pops, and Spring concerts. Here are just a few titles of the songs performed this year: Kyrie, Autumn Reel, Amid the Falling Snow, Deck the Hall with Haydn, Some Nights, Breakaway, America: The New Colossus and Wade in de Water. The size of the group this year is 17 students. "A small group that works hard and sounds great is better than a large group where only a few do the work. This choir has done an incredible job this year and has worked well to develop a great sound" said Mrs. Powell. Not only did they do concerts but they also have the opportunity to participate in Solo Ensemble as well as sing the National Anthem at school sporting events. Students who participated in Solo/Ensemble this year are Kayla Carey, Amber Ducommun, Polina Kudelina, Genie Tran, Annalise Goodell, Alexa Gutshall, James Goings, Isabel Lane, James Lengyel and Autumn King. Students are also selected for the All Conference Choir which took place at Stanley-Boyd High School in January.

Yearbook at Augusta High School was the class to take for aspiring journalists. Not only did a person have to learn how write articles, they also had to learn how to interview people, write captions, and make everything come together as smooth as possible.

One important thing the journalist had to learn, was how to brainstorm and eliminate other themes. The yearbook class started with lots of different themes and they narrowed it down to three: Social Media, Leave Your Mark, and Survival Guide. The crew chose to do a Survival Guide because they thought it would be fun and it was also original.

The class only consisted of ten kids and between them they needed to create two separate books. They got out and interviewed the coaches and team members, wrote articles on them, took pictures, and wrote captions for each.

The yearbook team had a lot on their plates for much of the year. It was their duty to participate in school activities but also to make sure someone is there to record the events that happened.

Surviving softball wasn't all about making the plays and saves.

Surviving was all about shoveling the field. The season started with three canceled games. Augusta's hopes of having a laidback season fell along with the snow, but they still came to practice every day in preparation for their first game. Their first playing time on an actual field was two weeks into the season on a very wet Saturday. Arriving on Westby's field, the team encountered muddy slush, kicking off what would be a very short season. The Lady Beavers tried their hardest to play in the freezing mud, but their slipping and sliding gave the opposing Norsemen the edge. Double headers were scheduled after that. The Beavers had to tackle up to four games a week; the only home game played was a month into their season. In spite of all the snow and canceled games, Coach Krueger kept the girls inspired by patting them on their heads and giving them the famous, "Come on, good hitter," from the dugout.

The Lady Beavers dealt with the loss of seven seniors, but a gain of seven freshmen. Catherine Shaffer, a senior, said, "Finally learning how to play as a team, then winning as a team," was what she liked most about softball, and it started with their blow-out win against Marshfield Columbus, 15-4. No one could forget the moment Cathy Renneke survived a tackle at home plate from a Columbus girl. Also, Catherine Shaffer was just a single hit short of hitting a single, double, triple, and a homerun, also known as a cycle. Dealing with the snow, tough practices, and new teammates was how Augusta survived the season.

Surviving baseball was quite the task this past year. Snowy weather and cold temperatures put the chill on April and May. The boys' first outdoor practice came just three days before their first game. The team started sluggishly losing five of the first six games. After such a slow start, one would think a team may start to have some doubts, but these hardworking men kept their heads up and battled through it. The Beavers walked over Columbus with a 12-3 victory; winning pitcher Zach Nelson had 10 strikeouts. After a close loss to Owen-Withee, the team squared off against Loyal for the last conference game. They came out focused and ready and snuck past the Greyhounds with a one-run victory. The first playoff game was against longtime rival Eleva-Strum. Sophomore Quinn Kirchoff threw a fantastic game as he gave up just one earned run and struck out 9. The Beavers needed extra innings to settle it. Nate Goodell drilled a ball deep into center; pinch runner Bryce Peterson scampered in from second base to win the game. Nathaniel said this after the game, "Coach called on me in the 8th to pinch hit; I was confident, and I hit the ball." Next up was Alma Center Lincoln; Jordan Cerrillo started the game off with a bang as he smashed a ball up the middle for a leadoff double. The boys continued to play well and came away with a win. Augusta was on their way to the Regional Championship game. The team knew it would be tough to beat Cochrane-Fountain City, but they had nothing to lose; so they left it all on the line. Despite these efforts, they lost 14-4, ending the game and ending Augusta's triumphant and exciting postseason run. Sophomore shortstop Jordan Cerrillo said, "The season was amazing; our record wasn't the greatest, but we played our hearts out."

SCAMPER ON IN. After a hard hit ball up the middle, Quinn Kirchoff crosses home plate to put the Beavers up 4-0. Augusta trumped Granton in the game. "I always get a rush when I step on home plate. It feels awesome!" said sophomore pitcher Quinn Kirkoff.

STAREDOWN. Prior to the first pitch, Nathaniel Goodell and Trevor Barka scope out Greenwood's starting pitcher. The Indians ended up winning 12-2. Trevor Barka said "I always watch the pitcher warm up, I look at his speed so I get a good feel for it before I go up to bat."

SCOOP & THROW: Trenton Meyer fields the ball in the 3rd inning against Gilman at the Memorial Field in Augusta. The Beavers lost to the Pirates, 5-6. "When you have that many errors, you aren't going to win many games," said sophomore 3rd baseman Trenton Meyer

Snow fall in May made for an unusual track season: they had five cancelled meets out of the nine they got to compete in. Also, due to snow they had to practice inside: scheduling of the gym with softball and baseball was a struggle, but they made it work. Running around the school while breaking the school rule of "no running in the hallways" was always fun. The snow fall made it harder to compete, but gave us more time for conditioning. With seven out of twenty nine members being foreign exchange students, they made a significant impact both culturally and through team work. The track team has three coaches: Coach Gilles, Coach Jacobs and Coach B. Blake Solie said "it was a great season but it was hard to train." Although the throwers didn't have someone who specialized in throwing, they still worked hard and pushed through the season to achieve their best. Damin Hadron-Papke said "It was a team felt day: we ran our hardest to make it to state". Marshall Mayer, Damin Hadron-Papke, Dylan Guse, Brandon Kimball and Samuel Witte (back up), advanced on to sectional on May 23, 2013 for their 4x1 and 4x2 relay in hopes of getting to state. On May 31, 2013 Courtney Shaffer was sent to state for the 400 meter dash and 800 meter run. She also beat the school record 6:09.53 in the 1600 meter run Courtney said "She almost didn't break the school recorded but she knew she had to because she didn't want to run it again". Throughout the season the athletes set 164 personal records.

With a new coach, and perspective the football team set out to achieve victory. The team kicked off the season with a win at home against Lake Holcombe/Cornell. It was followed by two weeks of away games. The Beavers had some trouble on the road with Boyceville and Cochrane-Fountain City. After that, they came back home for a week and had a game against Eleva-Strum, but came up short of a win for Homecoming. In the game against Lincoln, they worked hard all week to bring the win home. Ending the season with a win, the Beavers again beat Lake Holcombe/Cornell. Teamwork was very important this year; players did many tasks to bring team members closer. They went to the weight room using the new equipment. They also had team building on the field, carrying tires around the field above their heads. Throughout the season the team had Saturday practices. "The best part of the season was having fun with teammates," said senior Trevor Barka.

The team took a big hit when players quit after the Whitehall game. They had a maximum number of players at 30, but after the Whitehall game the team started to dwindle to about 24 players. They also had injuries bringing the number of players down to about 20 to 22 players eligible to be on the game field. Even with the low number of players, the Beavers still had 2 honorable mentions. They also had a first team all-conference, and a second team all-conference. The honorable mentions were Trenton Meyer and Connor Larson. Brandon Kimball received first team all-conference defensive back and second team all-conference offensive back. The team went through some hard times, but they pulled themselves together as a team in the end. Copy by Alex Knutson

Volleyball, a sport that many might have thought is not that difficult. Little do they know, in order to survive this sport a player must have fast feet, speedy reflexes and strong legs. Staying low with feet moving nonstop for what can be 10 seconds or 10 minutes is the key to the game. Amber Herrick, team captain and also second team all-conference winner, said, "The best part of playing in front of hometown fans is the pressure that makes me want to try harder.

Especially when the crowd would get into the game, that's when it's the most fun." With a season ending 4 out of 12 wins, the last tournament of the

After winning two straight conference championships, the weight on the team to do it again was almost unbearable. The Beavers started out on the wrong foot dropping seven of their first nine games. Many people were starting to have their doubts about the team.

When the New Year hit, the team transformed as they racked up 3 wins in a row. Marshall Mayer dropped in 28 points and Bradley Grunewald dished out 15 assists against Granton. Their next matchup was against the Greyhounds of Loyal. Augusta scored 17 points before Loyal got a bucket and the Beavers went on to win. Next up were the conference leading Spencer Rockets, the Beavers scored 26 points in the fourth quarter to come back and win. Owen-Withee was on the plate next, the game was rough for the Beavers as they shot just 17% from behind the three point line. The Blackhawks won 49-40. Augusta had no time to slump their heads; they were getting close to playoff time. The Beavers went on a four game winning streak to end the regular season. They ended fifth in the conference and were set to play Thorp in the crossover game. Due to a major snowstorm school was cancelled for two days in a row and the game was not rescheduled. Then it was time for madness to begin: playoff basketball. The Beavers Regional Quarterfinal was a game against Cadott, a young and talented team. Cadott shot the lights out, as they made 11 of 20 three point attempts. Brandon Kimball tied the game with just 15 seconds left. Cadott came down the floor, passed the ball out to the wing and shot. The ball swished through the net with 2.1 seconds remaining. The ball was inbounded to Bradley Grunewald; he caught the ball and heaved a half-court shot that bounced off the back of the rim. The dramatic finish put an end to the Beavers season. After the game Jordan Cerrillo said, "It seems like everyone plays the game of their lives against us. When a team doesn't miss, they're tough to beat."

"The 2013-14 girls' basketball program made a huge move in the right direction- UPWARD. I witnessed strong motivation to improve and a true desire to compete, not just play, from the girls. They did not back down from any opponent and in turn made their coach very proud with a very successful season," said a satisfied Coach Perry. The season started with a close win, Augusta 57 and Abbotsford 51, which made the girls optimistic for the rest of the games to be played. Even though they got the win, their chemistry as a team wasn't all there. The season's first half goal to move in the right direction was about creating that chemistry, which was something they lacked in the beginning. However the team's overall group of talented individuals kept them winning 6 of 13 games.

After two close battles against Greenwood and Colby; they came up short one point for both games. During winter break the girls sacrificed their personal time in hopes to make the team better. Their first game back was a strong win against Gilman, which led to a 5-game winning streak, including a nonconference victory against Cadott; senior Amber Herrick had a career high of 21 points. The wins also consisted of payback against Greenwood and Colby. They defeated Greenwood by 5 points; Junior Dani Nelson had 17 points. The girls' hard work paid off by getting a 5 seed, which resulted in their first Regional game at home against Spring Valley where they came out 55 to 40. Senior Courtney Shaffer had 13 points.

The Lady Beavers next destination was our neighbors Fall Creek with a 1st seed. The Beavers put up a fight; at half time the team was only down by six, but Fall Creek being as tall and big as they were, the Beavers came up 15 points short. It was a devastating loss for seniors Amber Herrick, Desyre Klindworth, and Courtney Shaffer. Junior Dani Nelson was awarded 1st Team All-conference, and teammate Amber Herrick received Honorable Mention. The girls' final record was 14 wins and 10 losses; the best Augusta had in a long time, and like Mr. Perry said, a move in the right direction. We can expect that the following years will contribute to the uprising of the Lady Beavers as a winning team.

JUMP, JUMP SKY HIGH! Cathy Renneke soars over Elexa-Strum girls grabbing the ball for a rebound. Augusta ends up winning the game 50 to 32. Cathy ended the year with a total of 23 rebounds.

FAST BREAK! Grabbing the ball off the backboard, Katie Nelson takes off down the court with the help of Baylee Peterson and Maddie Mcconville.

THANK YOU SENIORS! Kate Herold, Courtney Shaffer, Amber Herrick, and Desyre Klindworth stand by as players and coaches say goodbye. Kate ended the year with 82 points, 17 of them 3's. Courtney ended the year with 173 points and 39 steals. Amber ended the year with 179 points and 139 rebounds. Desyre ended the year with 56 points and 99 rebounds.

WRESTLING

How to survive Wrestling

- Keep moving, if you stop you are a target
- Don't throw head gear
- Don't get mad if you lose, learn from it
- Take a shower after the practice and meets
- Never give up; one error can change the whole match

TAKEDOWN! Taking a shot on the opponent, Jeffrey Breaker is going for the takedown. At the Northern badger, Jeffrey Breaker at 170 lbs. took 11th out of 40 in his weight class.

Low in number yet high expectations, the wrestlers of Augusta High School set off for a great year. Augusta had only two wrestlers, Jeffrey Breaker and Alex Knutson. However, they had a big impact on the Osseo-Fairchild, Altoona, Fall Creek, and Augusta, or Dragon, wrestling team. At practice and in matches, they helped push each other to be their best. The Augusta wrestlers would also slide up a weight class so the team would fill more weight class during duals and invitational.

Augusta wrestlers had set high goals for the success of the season. They started at Northern Badger where both pass their goals: Jeffrey Breaker, 170 lbs., took 11th, and Alex Knutson, 182 lbs., took 10th. The next plan for the duo was for conference where they up put up a good fight to reach their goals of placing in the top Three. Jeffrey Breaker took 3rd and Alex Knutson took 1st at the Conference meet in Stanley-Boyd. They both achieved their goals at the Cloverbelt Conference tournament along with many other Dragon wrestlers. The biggest goal for the year was going to state. The first step in achieving that goal was to place in the top four at the Regional meet held in Tomah. Jeffrey, unfortunately, was injured during his match which ended his season at 20-14. When as about his season, Jeffrey Breaker said, " I had a very successful season and I would like to thank the seniors for helping me get to the place I am today." Alex wrestled hard and was the Regional Champ in the 182 lbs. class. The Sectional was the next step on the road to State. At Waunakee, Alex was beat out in the first round, ending his season at 32-14.

ARCHERY

Keeping your hand steady while drawing back on the bowstring, judging the arrow's path by the angle of it set on the bow and with a breath releasing the string in hopes of getting a bulls-eye. That sounds easy enough, right? Archery not only takes a lot of practice but an enormous amount of discipline. One of those disciplines was that practices were every Tuesday through Thursday at 7:00 am. Mrs. Brenner and Mr. Bertelsen are the ones who introduced Archery to this school: they are also instructors. "Upper body strength, balance, coordination, and mental focus are all things gained by an archery member" said Mr. Bertelsen. Students have been taking part in this organization for 3 years now since it was started. Archery was the 2nd largest school group next to FFA. The archery team attended a tournament on March 22 at Stratford where members of Archery have a chance to go to nationals with a team or go solo every year.

ACTIVITIES

How to survive Homecoming

- Savers and Good Will are prime places to shop for dress up days.
- Make sure to practice powder puff in the off season.
- Participate in everything no one is to cool.
- Always bring extra deodorant to the dance.
- Don't forget the term, Friendly Competition.

Pull, Pull, Pull. Marshall Mayer and Courtney Shaffer wait to hear go; as they prepare to pull Mr. Collins around an obstacle course

You're gonna hear me Roar! Isabelle Lane shows off her school spirit during the Sophomore skit and shows the other team her battle cry.

That's adorable. To right: Nate Goodell poses as the man from a car insurance, talking to kids/seniors about how the beavers were going to win the game.

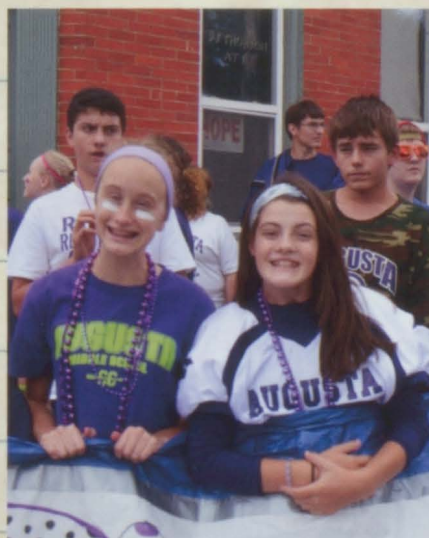

Homecoming

A week of activities, dress-up days, and football, "Conquer the Cardinals" was hung throughout the hallways. Many students participated in the homecoming events showing their school pride by doing their best to help their class win. Monday students waltzed around in leis, grass skirts and Hawaiian shirts. We Fast Forwarded into Tuesday where some students grew remarkably older or futuristic. The rest of the week brought zombies, holiday gear and the stand by: Purple Pride day. On Wednesday and Thursday the Powder Puff football games were played. The freshman beat the seniors and sophomores earing 1st place. The sophomores came in 2nd; the seniors and juniors finished 3rd and 4th, respectively. The boys played "4 Square Dodgeball," each class had a corner of the gym and were pitted against all of the other classes in a giant game of dodgeball. Quinn Kirchoff finally nailed Justin Schwarz to knock the seniors out. The juniors were first; seniors trailed in second and were followed by the sophomores and freshmen. On Friday the student body came together to rev up the guys for the game with a pep assembly full of hilarious skits and class relay races. All of the students went to the parade, and as they neared the corner of Lincoln St. and Stone St., Mr. Collins shouted his inspiring words of triumph and victory. The game didn't go as smoothly as the Beavers had hoped; Eleva-Strum won 30-7. The students didn't let the football game knock down their school spirit or their ability to dance. All of the students joined each other to celebrate another extravagant homecoming dance. Everyone was dressed in fashionable attire as they danced and sang at the top of their lungs. As the clock struck eleven it was time to depart and for the seniors it was time to say goodbye to homecoming forever.

Underdogs! Jenna Priest and Katie Nelson show their school spirit by holding their banner up for everyone to see.

Slurp Slurp! Rosie Berg slurps Jell-O up with the hopes of winning the competition for the junior class.

BIG SMILE! The class of 2014 group up and take a photo of their only Junior Prom, the ladies in their expensive dresses sit, while the fellas show off their rented tuxes.

SHOW ME THE MONEY! Seann Nuetzmann pays for her ticket into the dance and Shantae Harke waits patiently behind.

PARTY HARD!

Colton Barnhardt and Mathew Puxlun twirl their vests above their heads as party hard.

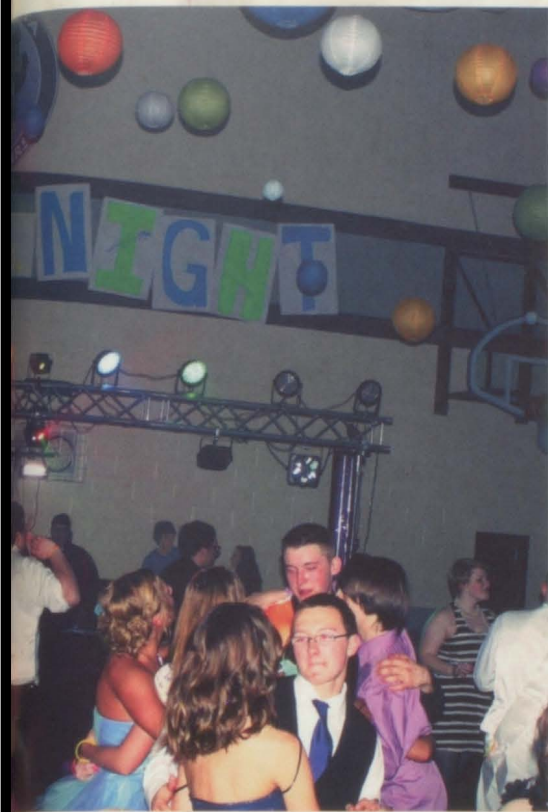

COOL DOWN! Kacie Conner, Devon Shilka, Adrienne Brock, and her date take a water break after cutting loose on the dance floor.

PROM

Behind the scenes to transform the gym into a masterpiece Prom, the juniors accomplished their dream prom in only two days: a full day was lost when school was canceled because of a snowstorm.

"Decorating for prom was the best part of prom for me: it brought our class together. Being in the Genie was scary because it was so high in the air, but fun!" Desyre Klindworth said.

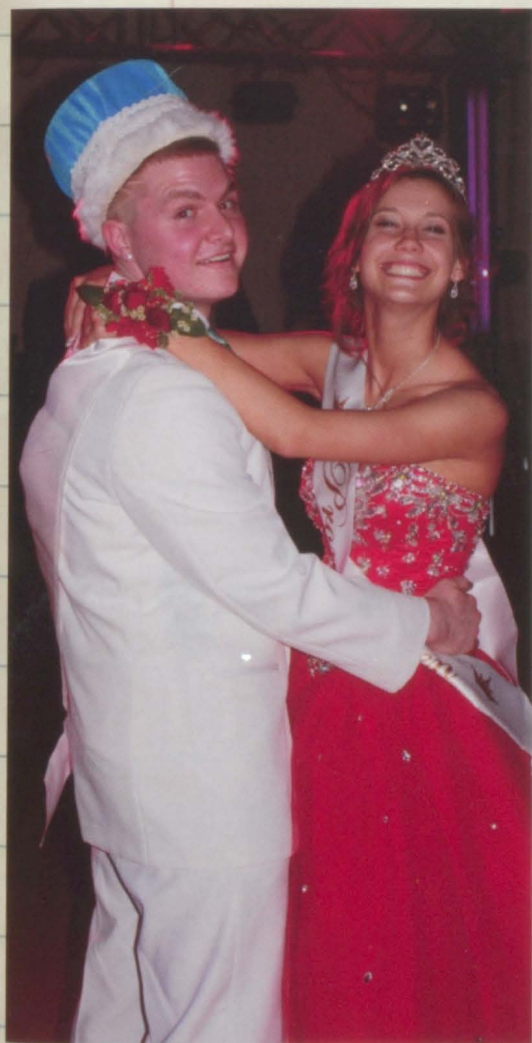

The words "Light up the Night" that hung on the wall reflected the evening well. Colorful lanterns glowed as they hovered above the dance floor; bright balloons streamed down from both sides of the gym, and behind them the walls were splattered with paint. The gym radiated with color from the glow-stick mason jars on each table and the junior's hand-printed with paint walkway. "I liked that the decorations were really colorful: it felt like I was at a rave," Isabel Lane exclaimed.

This prom court was different: there weren't attendants from other classes, only juniors and the past year's King and Queen. Ultimately, four junior boys and four junior girls were voted into prom court. Mrs. Meyer, head of the prom committee, tallied up the final votes the day of the dance, which came down to two optimistic juniors. In the neon light with confetti blasting all around, Bradley Grunewald and Amber Herrick were crowned Prom King and Queen. The runners up for boys were Mareano Carrillo, Damin Hadorn-Papke, and Marshall Mayer; and girls were Shelby Rios, Courtney Shaffer, and Angelle Solie. "I was very excited, but if I wouldn't have won, I wouldn't have let it ruin my perfect night," Bradley said after being crowned. As the lights of the evening faded, so did the students. What was learned from that night was to make the night last with as much pizzazz as possible.

How to survive Prom

- Look fresh and dress to impress
- Don't eat too much before Prom, avoid messy foods ie. No Ribs!
- French-tip nails = no finger food
- Be outgoing; don't be shy on the dance floor.

ENJOY THE NIGHT!

Desyre,
 Our cute little girl has grown into a beautiful young lady! We are so proud of all your accomplishments! Your involvement in so many things has made you a stronger, well rounded individual! Your future is as bright as your smile!
 All our love,
 Mom & Dad
 P.S.
 You will always be my big sister, but remember to look up to find me.
 Love, Dylan

Kerry,
 I think a favorite memory of you will always be of you sitting on my kitchen table when you were 4. You were stirring a glass of melting ice and explaining to me how molecules were separating. A few years later you told me when you grew up you wanted a "Hero Job". I hope your interest in science and I assume you meant saving people will take you far.
 You have done a wonderful job.
 Love,
 Mom and Dad

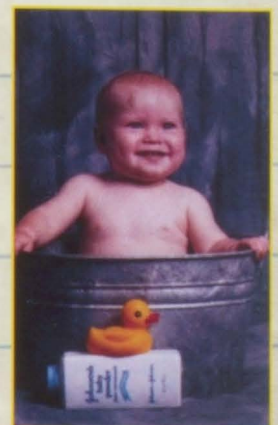

Blake Allyn,
 What a joy it has been watching you grow up. From your creativity, your spunky/silly personality, to your love for animals you are a true blessing in our lives. I (mom) look forward to the shopping trips, Horseback rides, and days spent in the sun that we will have together. It has been an absolute joy being your parents and we can't wait to see what lies ahead. Remember son to always be you and don't change for anyone! We are very proud of you and the man you have turned out to be. Congratulations kiddo, we love you!
 Mom and Dad

Marshall,
 Don't take the smooth road in life; the bumps along the way are what make us slow down and realize what we have. It has been a crazy drive; you have hit some bumps, got stuck in the mud a time or two, but you always keep moving forward. I can't wait to see what the future will bring. I will always be there to pull you out when you get stuck in the mud. I love you.
 Love,
 Mommy, Kendall, Calvin and Grandma Sparky

Marshall,
 We are all so proud of you. To watch you grow from a baby, to an amazing young adult was an adventure we will never forget.
 Love always and forever,
 Dad, Renee, Grandma and Grandpa

Damin,
 It is hard to believe that you are graduating already. The years have flown by way too fast. Your hard work has made you shine academically, and you have taken advantage of the opportunities provided to you and reaped the benefits. You were unsure at first whether you wanted to participate in the Senate Scholar Program, but your academic standing and hard work allowed you to be selected as a Wisconsin Senate Scholar. I'll never forget your first phone call home when you told me that the other Senate Scholars were nerds and that just maybe you were one, too. You enjoyed the opportunity to have academic discussions with your peers. Each door that was opened for you gave you a new perspective and the chance to excel. Starting with getting your black belt in Karate at the age of 7 and competing in national karate tournaments and developing skills in gymnastics, soccer, basketball, football and being named All Conference in Track. Your father and I hope you have the opportunity to compete at State this year in Track. Athletics has shown you to be a competitor and team player. It is great to see that you have the ability to work with others and comprehend what sportsmanship is really about in light of what was available. Your musical talent started when you were four by playing the piano. Whether listening to pep band, concert band, marching band or your piano recitals, all were enjoyed. It's amazing that you continue to grow with a new interest in playing the violin. You have developed an excellent base to grow on, and we know that you have the ability to excel and create great things. We are proud of your accomplishments and know that you will continue to grow.

Love,
 Mom and Dad

Damin,
 I know that I'm a hard act to follow, but you have done an amazingly great job. We have had the opportunity to do many things together. We were a terrific karate bo staff team. You were forced to go to all my events and I wish I could have been at all of yours. We were smashing on the soccer field; we could read each other's moves and made sure other soccer teams had the opportunity to see us score. Even though we are four years apart, age never made a difference in being able to do things together. You are not just my brother, but also my best friend. From sports, to music, to cattle we have been there together. Although you complain every once and a while about the cattle, you sure don't seem to mind winning every once and a while. We make a pretty good team getting the calves show ready. We made it to finals in team fitting at Nationals, and it was evident at the North Dakota show with our cattle getting Champion Shorthorn in the Open and the Junior Show. Only took us ten years but we finally are showing some success. I may frustrate you and challenge you, but I want you to exceed my accomplishments.

Love,
 Your favorite brother, due to being the only one,
 Devin

Smiley,

It's been amazing watching you grow into a humble, loving, young man with a terrific smile. Continue to set your foundation of life on your faith, family and friends. Life is too short to be anything but happy. Forget the bad and focus on the good. Love the people who treat you right; pray for the ones who don't. Always believe in yourself and surround yourself with people who make you laugh. Make friends, find love, and always know where home is. We are proud of you!

Love ya,
 Mom & Dad

Adrienne,

From darkest of nights, come the brightest days. Our life has been marked by many dark nights, but through it all your joy and laughter has left your family with the warmth of grace, the beauty of love and the reflection of mercy. You have a gift for compassion, always seeing the best in others and striving to encourage everyone to pursue their dreams. You are my dorkfish and have been a great blessing to your family. Your future is so bright and your path perfectly designed for you. Have no fear, take courage and leap. Your Father will always catch you. Reflect the love Jesus has shown you and you will never go wrong. I love you. I can't wait to see what the next chapter of your journey will bring!

Prayers and love,
Mom Jessica Brown

My Dear Teresa,

When you decided to join the exchange student program, I can't describe our mixed feelings of happiness and sadness, but I think it's time to let you be more independent. We thank God that you found a really good host family and school. We've already seen that you've learned a lot and have been loved. We hope you treasure everything you gain, and learn to repay back the world – to those who need help and to those who have helped you – so that you will appreciate your life even more and make it more valuable.

Love,
Mom & Dad

To our fun-loving daughter,

We've watched you grow from that precious little fairy princess into a beautiful young lady. You have your feature ahead of you and you'll greet it with an open mind and open heart. You've made our dreams of you come true and with your personality, creativity, tenacity, and determination you'll accomplish all your dreams!

Love you so very much,
Mom & Dad

Dear Kate,

I never thought I would actually say this, but I think I am going to miss you when you go to college.

I will miss seeing you in the hallway flipping me off every day! One day I will be in the squad car with you like National Security. You would obviously be the funny one- Martin Lawrence, and I would be the annoying white guy Steve Zahn. I hope you will have fun being a cop!

Love,
Baby Sissy (Your future squad car partner)

Kate,

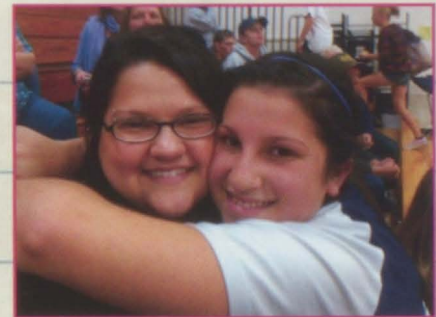

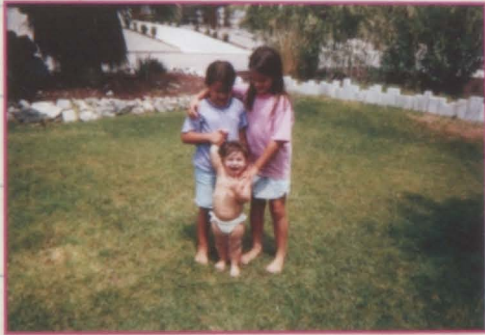

Words can't express how proud we are to call you our daughter. You have always set goals and followed through on everything. You are a strong, motivated, confident, passionate young woman. You have been the best sister, daughter, and granddaughter any of us could have ever dreamed of. (Daddy's Little Girl) Reach for the stars and you will achieve! Bring home that badge. We will be there for you through it all.

Love,
Mom & Dad

Hey Amber,
It's crazy to think that you're already graduating and heading off to college next year. We've had our ups and downs over the past 17 years but, I have never been so proud of you and thankful that you're my little sister and my best friend!

With Love, you're Bro
Aaron

Shelby,

I can't believe that your time has come, my baby sister; my little booger butt is graduating. You say goodbye to high school and hello to a whole new world. I'm so excited for you. I remember carrying you around when you were little like you were my baby. Dressing you up and playing house with you. But I wasn't your mother, I was your big sister and I take great pride in that role. I have loved helping you get ready for school dances, big events and dates. Listening to you vent about boys and those high school fights every girl gets into with their friends. I spent hours wondering what you would look like when you grew up. What would you like to do? What would you want to be when you grew up? Would we be close? Well, you're more beautiful than I could have ever imagined and you are one of my best friends. It has truly been a blessing watching you grow. I guess with my 5 year lead in life I'm supposed to give you some advice? Don't worry, if you don't feel like a grown up. I still don't. Stay inspired; never stop doing what you love. Truly try not to care what other people think. If your goal is to please everyone, you will never ever succeed. Love with your whole heart and remember it's never too late to start over. But mostly know that I will always be here for you no matter where you go, who you marry, what you believe in. I'll be here arms open wide, ready to hold you like I did when you were a baby.

Love your big sister,
Samantha

Shelby,

I'm so proud of you for all of the success you have had. I know you will reach your dreams and goals you have for yourself now, and throughout the rest of your life. You have all the potential in the world, and I can't wait to see you put it to use.

Love,
Jordan

Hello Pretty Girl,

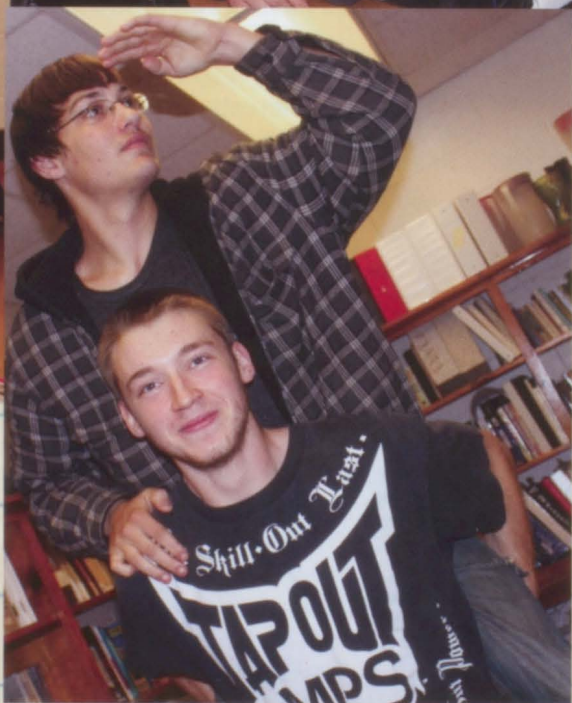

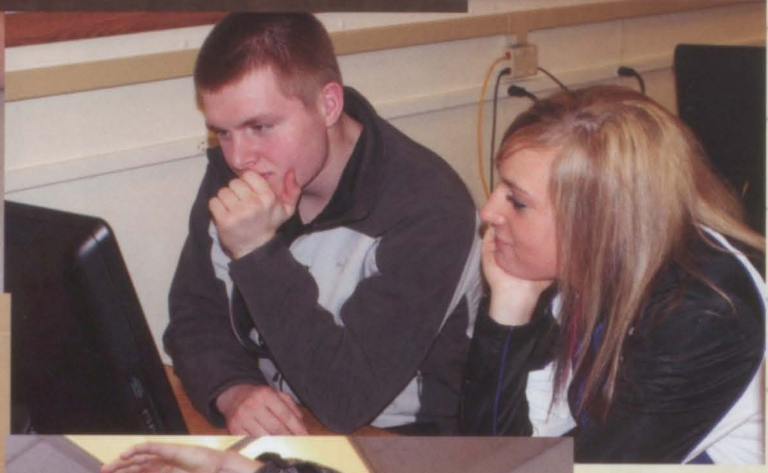

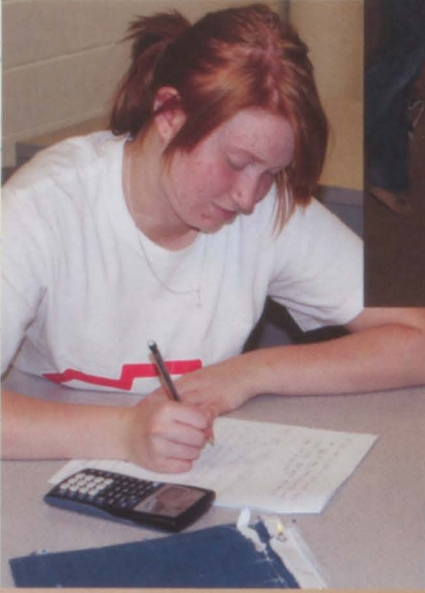

I have only known you a few years, but it seems you have always been a part of our lives. You are a wonderful person and a great sidekick, as I have gotten lost following Jordan with all his different interests. We have laughed together and even cried together. I can't begin to imagine my life without you in it. I look forward to being by your side as you begin this next amazing chapter in your life. I am lucky to call you my friend and even luckier to have you think of me as a mom..

I love you,
Shelby
Chris

Our first child

Oh how we planned and waited for the moment of your birth, of all our little miracles you were the very first. The first to love and fill our days with fun. From your first tooth to your first step. We counted memories one by one. The years passed by so quickly and so on we realized, dear first born, you were growing up right before our eyes. We have cherished every moment and we want you to know. You have brought real joy into our lives, and we love you so. Walk along side me hold

How to survive school lunch

- If it moves, don't touch
- If it's smelly, it's probably old
- Sack lunch is safest
- Look for worms!

Girls & Boys

RULE #1

• Finish what you've started.

Jacobs - If you don't try, you get got.

Kragness - Success is not measured by how much money you have but rather by how much character you have.

Gilles - Whining has only ever made my ears go deaf. Know when fun ends and hard work begins.

Collins - When your instincts tell you your essay is ready to publish, revise it again.

Life is tough. Be tougher!
Maenner

Slough - If at first you don't succeed try try again.

Success comes from knowing that you did your best to become the best that you are capable of being." Mr. Perry

Maenner - FACE THE TRUTH REGARDLESS OF THE CONSEQUENCES

Slough - Don't Eat Yellow Snow

Slough - Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. - Thoreau

Maenner - Adversity doesn't build character... it reveals it.

Sands: The difference between a successful person and others is not the lack of strength, not a lack of knowledge, but rather a lack of will. - Vince Lombardi

Zastrow: Have a positive attitude and put forth effort in order to be a contributing member of the band.

Maenner - Things may come to those who wait, but only to those things left by those who hustle. - Abraham Lincoln

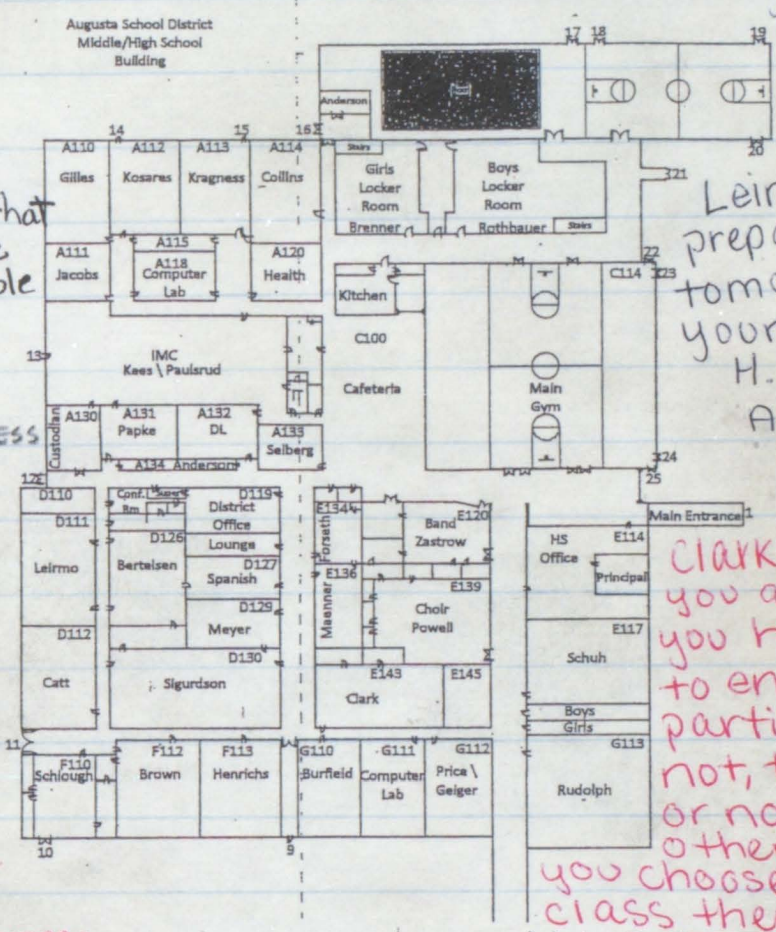

Keas: "The only thing you absolutely have to know, is the location of the library." - Albert Einstein

Maenner: An investment in knowledge. The more that you read, the more things you will know. The more that you learn, the more places you'll go.

Maenner: Never give up. Dr. Seuss

Catt: "You never get a second chance to make a good first impression"

Maenner: "You never win! Problem number 1, they are opportunities to minimize very good opportunities and create problems." - Abraham H. Selberg

Leirmo - "The best preparation for tomorrow is doing your best today." H. Jackson Brown, American Author

Clark - Each day when you approach a class you have a choice to enter or not, to participate fully or not, to do your best or not, to respect others or not. Once you choose to enter the class there is no "or no"
